Chairman’s Message
Chef Gerard Mendis
Chairman, Chefs Guild of Lanka

Welcome to the Culinary Art & Food Expo 2026. As we celebrate our 23rd edition, I look back with great pride at how far we have come. What began as a national Chefs' competition has grown into Sri Lanka's largest culinary event and one of the biggest in Asia.

This year, we are proud to bring together over 2,500 Chefs from Sri Lanka and around the world, alongside leading businesses, suppliers, industry professionals and food enthusiasts. Over these three days, we will see incredible talent, creativity and innovation, while creating opportunities to learn from each other, exchange ideas and build important networks.

We are also especially excited to welcome the World Butchers' Challenge to Sri Lanka for the very first time. Often described as the "Olympics of Meat", this prestigious competition will judge some of Sri Lanka’s finest butchery professionals on their knife skills, speed, zero-waste efficiency, and artistic presentation. It is another important milestone for our industry. For me, however, the true value of this Expo goes beyond the competition. It is about bringing people together, celebrating our profession, and creating opportunities for the next generation. Since its beginnings in 1988, the Chefs Guild of Lanka has grown into a strong community of nearly 6,000 members. Over the years, we have helped Sri Lankan Chefs achieve remarkable success on the international stage, including at the Culinary Olympics, bringing pride and recognition to our country. But what makes me equally proud is the work we continue to do behind the scenes – developing young talent, improving culinary education, and supporting Chefs across the island with the right opportunities and exposure. This remains one of our biggest priorities at the Guild. Through our training programmes, competitions, partnerships and initiatives such as the Sri Lanka Young Chefs Club we want to build a stronger future for our industry.

We also remain committed to promoting innovation, sustainability and the wonderful ingredients and culinary traditions that make Sri Lanka unique. None of this would be possible without the support of our many partners and the dedication of colleagues who generously volunteer their time, energy, and expertise. My sincere thanks go out to the World Association of Chefs' Societies (WACS), our sponsors, exhibitors, judges, Guild members and everyone who has worked tirelessly to bring this event to life. Your continued support means a great deal to us. When we come together, there is so much we can achieve – not just for our profession, but for Sri Lanka. To all our participants, I wish you the very best. Whether you take home a medal or not, be proud of the opportunity to challenge yourself, learn from others and grow in your profession. Every experience is a step forward. And to everyone visiting us, I encourage you to make the most of these three days. Discover something new, and enjoy the incredible talent and creativity on display. Thank you for being part of this journey. I hope you enjoy the Culinary Art & Food Expo 2026. Chef Gerard Mendis

MESSAGE MINISTER OF TOURISM

Message from the President World Association of Chefs Societies Chef Andy Cuthbert

Dear Chefs of Sri Lanka,
It is with great pride that as President of World chefs I am able to write to you and send you a message on the occasion of the 23rd Culinary Art Food Expo 2026 (CAFÉ). Your competition and dedication from your association to your young culinarians is outstanding and I applaud chef Gerard Mendis and his entire team for their commitment to the culinary and gastronomy of Sri Lanka and to the Youth of the country.

The Chefs Guild of Lanka was established in 1988, and this long journey would not have been possible without the support of the over 180 hotel across the country and 2500s of chefs that support the Guild they are all to be commended.

Culinary Competitions such as this one is so important to the development of our young chefs, it gives them a platform where they can showcase their skills, learn new skills and most importantly form bonds and friendships with their peers. Culinary competitions are the birthplace of talent and career growth, and I encourage all the young chefs to try their very best.

Winning a medal in a culinary competition is very satisfying for our young people, but if they don't win a medal, we as hospitality leaders and senior leadership need to encourage them to come back again and again and continue to give them the support they deserve.

Our industry needs young people, our industry is built on young people, and it is for us who lead the industry and those of us that are in positions that are able to support and influence them to give our 100% to them all. The culinary industry also supports the tourism industry of countries showcasing the heritage of the country and the progressive nature of gastronomy.

wish all competitors the very best of luck and I thank The Chefs Guild of Lanka for their dedication to the young chefs and remember, "don't forget the salt and pepper"
With warm Regards

Andy Cuthbert,
President

As in previous years, I once again take this opportunity to congratulate the Organizing Committee, particularly the Chefs Guild Association of Sri Lanka, for their outstanding efforts in organizing this high-profile event for the 23rd consecutive year. The event provides abundant opportunities for industry players, from 'factory to table', while enabling them to broaden their horizons through exposure to global trends and new technologies.
I personally believe that events of this nature are timely and important, particularly as Sri Lanka's tourism and HORECA sectors continue to expand. These sectors are important pillars of the country's economic development, with significant potential for further growth as Sri Lanka strengthens its position as one of the world's most attractive tourist destinations.

It is encouraging to witness the Culinary Art Expo gaining popularity not only in Sri Lanka but also internationally, particularly in Asia. It is truly an inspiration to the younger generation of chefs in the country. We, as a responsible corporate entity, are delighted to contribute towards the success of this significant event and support an industry that continues to evolve dynamically, embracing new trends and innovations.

Thank You

Dilmah Ceylon PLC

For Dilmah, tea has always represented much more than a beverage. Our journey as a family of tea growers has been guided by respect for the leaf, the people behind it and the many possibilities tea offers within gastronomy and hospitality.

Over the years, our work with chefs, mixologists and other culinary professionals has sought to deepen the understanding of tea, from its terroir and character to its preparation, pairing and creative application.

This shared spirit of knowledge and discovery also defines Dilmah's relationship with the Culinary Art Food Expo. Through initiatives such as the Perfect Brew Competition, young professionals are encouraged to master the fundamentals of tea before exploring what it can become alongside food.

CAFE provides a valuable stage for Sri Lanka's culinary talent to learn, compete and grow, and Dilmah is pleased to continue contributing to that journey.
