Observations / Comments

The rear counterweight paint is scratched. The warning sticker on the control station in the basket is peeling off. The control station in the basket has paint splatter on it. The floor metal in the basket has paint splatter on it. The decal for the control panel on the unit is cracking. The hours on the unit appear to be low for the age of the unit, possibly indicating that the hour meter has been replaced. The information screen on the control station in the basket has a hole in the screen cover. The lower sheet metal on the basket appears to be slightly bent, and the paint is missing in areas while the decal is peeling off. The engine oil appears to be above the full mark on the dipstick. The wiper seal appears to have fallen out of the leveling cylinder on the front right cylinder. The front left steering cylinder appears to be oily and leaking where the chrome rod goes into the cylinder. The rear left tire has a cut on the sidewall and also has a screw stuck between the tread lugs. The front right tire has small cuts and gouges in the sidewall. During the inspection, a wet spot was seen under the unit, approximately in the center, indicating that the unit could possibly have a leak. It was confirmed with Ricky, the operator, that the beacon is not functioning, while the horn is operational.
