SMS for Agencies

The Client

Time is of the essence when it comes to agencies. When they choose a new marketing service, they need something that can keep up. They are constantly on the lookout for tools that can deliver instant results.

The Problem

Agencies deal with multiple businesses, and each business usually has a different preference when it comes to payment and operations. They need a way to manage multiple accounts simultaneously. In order to satisfy their clients, they also need to have a way of showing progress and reporting in real-time.
