This architectural rendering shows a long, single-story commercial building with a white facade and a dark roofline. The storefront features a series of large glass windows and doors. Above the storefront, a long white sign displays the names of the tenants in a brown, sans-serif font. The sign is divided into sections by vertical lines. The rightmost section, which includes 'LA Nails', 'Tax', and 'The Spot', is highlighted with a bright green border. The building is set in a parking lot with several cars and a few people walking. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds.
