

LINCOLN SQUARE

LONDON WC2

WHERE GREAT MINDS LIVE

Lincoln Square provides a unique opportunity to own a high quality residence in one of London's finest neighbourhoods. Located on a rare island site, the building has views of the adjacent Royal Courts of Justice and the London School of Economics, with Covent Garden less than 5 minutes walk away.

HISTORIC QUARTER

Lincoln's Inn Fields is a quiet, green sanctuary away from the busy streets of Covent Garden and the Strand. To walk the streets that surround the square is to step through the ages. Nearby Temple and New Square have sat at the heart of the legal profession for more than 500 years. These streets inspired the greatest writers of their time – Shakespeare, Dickens, Pepys – in an area that was to become the literary and intellectual heart of London, home to the Bloomsbury Set.

SEAT OF LEARNING

Lincoln Square is close to three of London's finest educational institutions. Adjacent to Lincoln Square is the London School of Economics (LSE), one of the world's leading social science universities and ranked second in the world for the highest proportion of international students. University College London (UCL) in Bloomsbury and King's College London, which has a riverside perch on the Strand, are two of the oldest universities in England.

Lodha UK has brought together a world class team who has conceptualised an exclusive residential enclave set around a private garden square. The development features architecture by PLP Architecture, landscape by Gustafson Porter, interior design of the public and amenity areas by the celebrated interior designer, Patricia Urquiola and residential interiors by the award-winning Bowler James Brindley.

PATRICIA URQUIOLA

Spanish designer Patricia Urquiola is one of the most in-demand product designers in Europe, known for such iconic products as the Fjord chair and for her innovative vision at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Barcelona. Her designs reflect her own character: passionate, intense and full of life.

GUSTAFSON PORTER

An award-winning international practice known for its sensual approach to landscape design. At Lincoln Square, their vision is to bring light, reflection and animation into the central garden and to create contemporary paved areas inspired by the bold patterns of surrounding historic buildings.

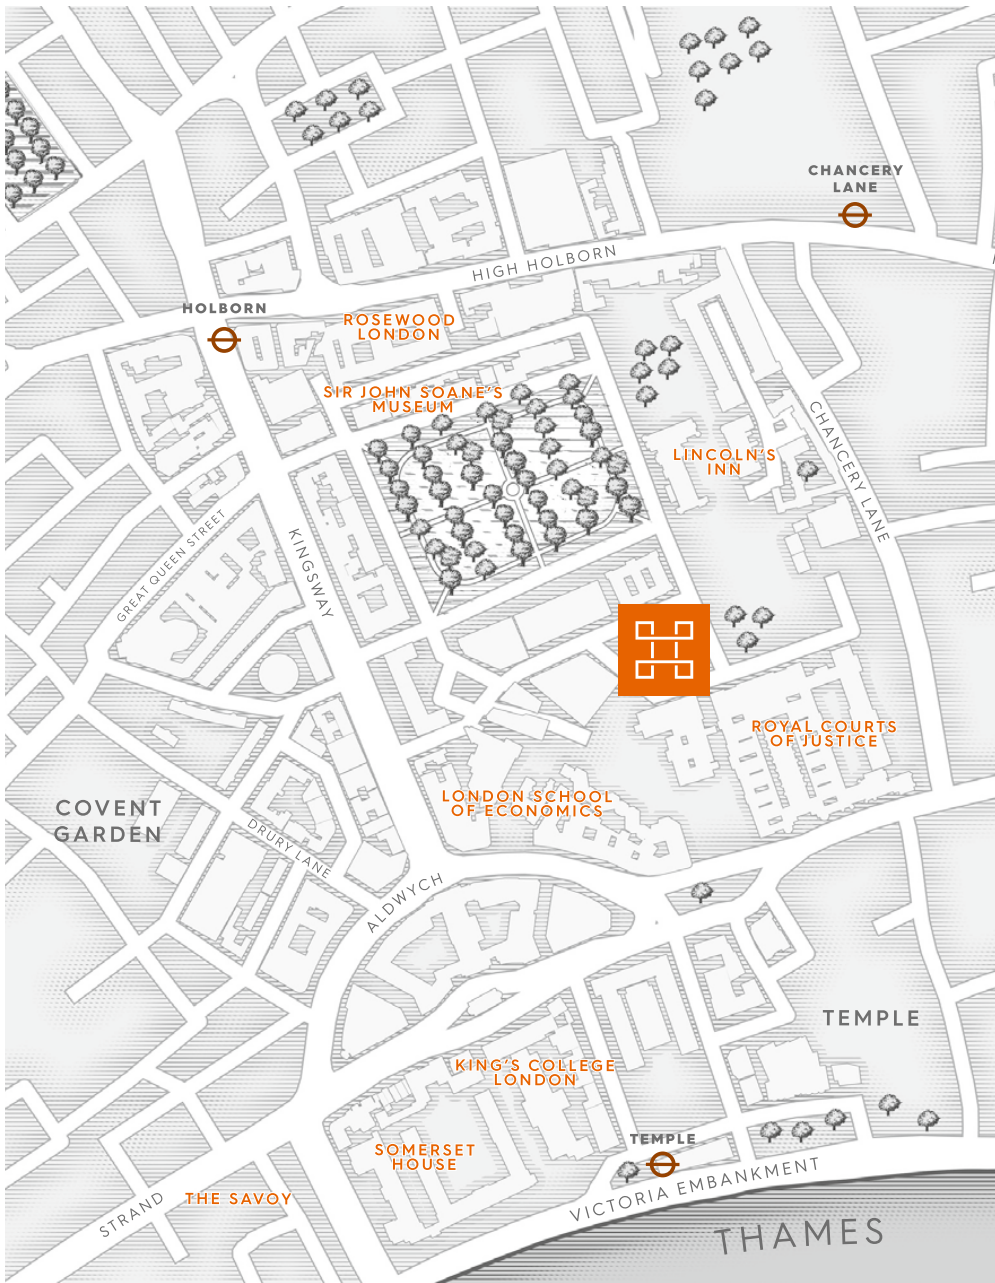

BOWLER JAMES BRINDLEY

A collective of designers working on projects for elite residential developers and hotel brands. The studio is wholly owned and all projects are carefully managed by Lucy Southall, Stephen Crawley and Ian Bayliss – three individuals with different skills but with a shared attitude towards design and life.

PLP ARCHITECTURE

A London-based group of architects, designers and thinkers, PLP pay attention to classic devices such as craft and proportion to create inspirational, innovative and sustainable buildings. PLP's work spans private and public clients in the UK and overseas.
