Three Attorneys Join Hahn Loeser & Parks LLP

Cleveland, Ohio (August 7, 2017) – Hahn Loeser & Parks LLP continues to add to its attorney ranks with the recent addition of three new associates – Matthew K. Grashoff, Matthew E. Henoach and Anna L. Seiger, who all join the firm’s Cleveland office.

“We are excited to have Matt Grashoff and Anna join our growing litigation practice, and Matt Henoach brings experience in probate litigation to our Trusts and Estates Practice,” said Stanley R. Gorom III, Partner-in-Charge of Hahn Loeser’s Cleveland Office. “They are all wonderful additions to our team.”

Grashoff joins the firm’s Litigation practice from Brouse McDowell, bringing his experience in insurance coverage, appellate practice, oil and gas and real estate litigation. Since 2015, he served as counsel on the Appellate Rules Committee of the Ohio Supreme Court Commission on the Rules of Practice and Procedure.

Grashoff earned his J.D., magna cum laude, from Case Western Reserve University School of Law and his B.A., cum laude, from Allegheny College. He was the recipient of numerous honors in law school including Order of the Coif, and was the Managing Editor of the Case Western Reserve Journal of International Law, and a member of the Craven Memorial Moot Court Competition team.

Henoach joins the firm’s Trusts and Estates Practice from Cavitch Familo & Durkin Co, L.P.A., where he advised clients in estate planning, probate litigation, business litigation and trust and estate administration. He is experienced in representing clients in multi-million dollar probate litigation involving a variety of claims, including undue influence, lack of mental capacity and breach of fiduciary duties. He also has represented closely held businesses in litigation and arbitration matters. His practice has included both litigation and trusts and estates since 2007.

Henoach earned his J.D., cum laude, from Case Western Reserve University School of Law and his B.A., with honors, from Washington University in St. Louis. He was a member of the Student Health Law Association at Case Western Reserve and a Student Consultant with the Environmental Law Clinic at Washington University.

Seiger joins the firm’s Litigation Practice from Kohrman Jackson & Krantz LLP, where she represented clients in a wide array of complex commercial, business, and employment litigation in state and federal court. Seiger has experience throughout all phases of the litigation process including discovery, document review, pre- and post-trial motion practice and appellate advocacy.

Seiger earned her J.D., cum laude, from Cleveland-Marshall College of Law and her B.S., with honors, from The Ohio State University. While at Cleveland-Marshall, she received numerous awards, including the Jeffrey Stein Award for Excellence in Advocacy and Administration. Seiger competed in the ABA National Appellate Advocacy Moot Court Competition as both a brief writer and oral advocate, and she served as a Faculty Research Assistant. In addition to her academic pursuits, Seiger externed at the United States Attorney’s Office, Civil Division, and at the Office of the Federal Public Defender. She also worked for two northeast Ohio boutique-law firms and for the Cuyahoga County Office of the Public Defender. Seiger is on the Executive Council for the Young Lawyers Section of the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association.
