

eric norcross

full-stack developer

"Design must reflect the practical and aesthetic in business, but above all, good design must primarily serve people."

~Thomas J. Watson

/about background

Developer with over ten years of professional experience. Detail orientated, end-user focused, and a passion for solving complex problems. Experienced in front & back-end development, system architecture, UX design, ad trafficking – oh, and a background in graphic design development philosophy

Strive to develop well-designed, intuitive, user-first systems and never stop learning certifications

DoubleClick QA Certified, DoubleClick Studio Certified, Apple Certified Technician

/tools

current crushes

ruby / rails, javascript / angular, sql, scss, html, git old flames

php, actionscript / flash, apache, photoshop, illustrator flings

wordpress, redis, swift, java, subversion testing the waters node, express, react, typescript

/experience

full-stack developer ~ consultant (2007 - 2010 & 2013 - present)

- conceptualized, designed, developed, & implemented software solutions including:
 - custom CMS systems
 - e-commerce / shopping cart solutions
 - database design
 - cloud-based content storage & delivery
 - data modeling / data mapping
 - motion / animation direction
 - html5 ads & emails
- architected custom web-based estimation software which allowed the client to integrate existing web services, streamline workflow, and significantly decrease estimate generation turn around
- lead developer of a multi-expansion website initiative, which allowed the client to reach new markets and expand their customer base
- managed multiple clients, contractors, projects, & deadlines

sr. developer @ Spongecell (2010 - 2013)

- developed platform features including forms, carousels, and dynamic placements which were integral in winning new business and increasing revenue year over year
- worked with clients to implement custom campaign solutions
- mentored jr. developers who became vital members of the development team
- worked with media partners to expand ad network coverage

sr. interactive developer @ DraftFCB Healthcare (2006 - 2007)

- designed and built sales aids which drove product awareness & adoption
- developed interactive presentations instrumental in winning new business
- worked with regulatory & legal teams for complete FDA compliance

/interests professional

- mentoring
- project management
- agile development
- SaaS / PaaS systems
- ux design
- native app development
- refactoring

personal

- cooking
- boardgames
- movies
- dodgeball / kickball
- cycling
- kickboxing

/contact

eric@base10creations.com

www.base10creations.com www.linkedin.com/in/ericnorcross www.github.com/eric-norcross

(619) 750-3656 ~ cell
(415) 513-5167 ~ office

1924 Monroe Avenue
San Diego, CA 92116