

COLTON, 15

I WISH TO GO TO HAWAII TO SEE PEARL HARBOR

When asked by his Wish-Granting Volunteers what his one wish would be, 15-year-old Colton knew he wanted to go somewhere he could experience one of his most heartfelt passions, his love for history.

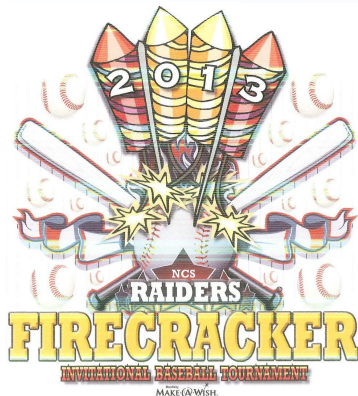

Colton is battling osteosarcoma, a rare bone cancer. Due to his condition Colton has occasional difficulty getting around as most normal teenagers do.

Despite his medical battles, Colton is a typical teenage boy. He enjoys all types of sports, being outdoors, camping, hunting and fishing. He also enjoys cheering for the Buckeyes, especially Aaron Craft, and watching his favorite actor, Adam Sandler, in Happy Gilmore.

In order to take a break from hospitals and doctor visits, this fall Colton and his family will jet off to Hawaii for a fun-filled, relaxing vacation full of American history. Colton is most excited to see, first hand, Pearl Harbor for the first time.

For Colton and his family, this trip will give them a chance to create unforgettable memories together as a family away from medical treatments that will last a lifetime.
