

I am going to a show at Lincoln Center!

The event is presented by Restart Stages at Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

Photo by Sachyn Mital

Program Title: Story Pirates

When: Saturday, July 17th, 2021

Where: Hearst Plaza

Start Time: 12:00pm

End Time: Around 1:00pm

Arrival Time: I will arrive at the time listed on my ticket
(11:15am, 11:30am, or 11:45am)

I may want to bring:

- Water
- Sunscreen
- Sunglasses
- My favorite fidget
- Noise-cancelling headphones
- A fan

I can ask the staff in blue shirts to borrow:

- Assistive Listening Devices
- Ear Plugs

About the Performance:

Today's performance is called Story Pirates.

This program features stories written by kids, brought to life by talented comedians and musicians.

The Story Pirates are a group of top comedians, musicians, best-selling authors and incredible teachers with fifteen years of experience creating content that celebrates the imaginations of kids.

Click here to learn more about Story Pirates.

Preparing for the Show:

The performance is in Hearst Plaza which is located between the Metropolitan Opera House and the Laurie M. Tisch Illumination Lawn. The stage is in front of The New York Public Library for the Performing Arts.

When I arrive:

I can take the train or bus, drive, or walk to Lincoln Center.

My e-ticket includes an arrival time. If I am early, I may want to visit The GREEN.

The GREEN is an installation of grass-like material surrounding the Josie Robertson Plaza.

I can sit in this space and relax. I can get food or drinks from the snack bar.

Click here to learn more about The GREEN.

Restrooms:

If I arrive early, I can use the restrooms before sitting in my pod.

The restrooms are in the Concourse level of Lincoln Center. I can enter on West 65th Street through the glass doors under a large awning for Lincoln Center Theater.

I will walk down a long hallway with black floor tiles and large white poles until I reach another set of glass doors.

After the long hallway, I will walk through the glass doors to a crosswalk and check to make sure there are no cars before crossing.

Then, I will safely cross the street and turn left past some bike racks.

I will keep walking along the sidewalk until I see a glass wall on the right.

I will walk past the glass wall and the restrooms will be on the right.

Ticketing Entrance:

The ticketing entrance is located on West 65th Street (between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway) between the Elinor Bunin Munroe Film Center and the Lincoln Center Theater.

When I arrive I may need to wait in line. Lincoln Center staff will let me know when I can go up to the plaza level.

I can take the stairs or the large glass elevator which will bring me up to the plaza level.

Ticket Check & Security:

On the plaza level I will be greeted by Lincoln Center staff who will scan my ticket.

Everyone will wear a mask as they enter the space, I can take my mask off when I get to my seat.

Then I will walk through the security checkpoint. They may ask to check my bag.

If I need any accommodations like an Assistive Listening Device or earplugs, I can ask at the Accessibility Table, which is just past the security checkpoint.

Getting to my seat:

When I am past the security checkpoint I will walk around the Paul Milstein Reflecting Pool past the white tents. If I have questions or need an accessible entrance, I can ask Lincoln Center staff.

On the way to my seat I may see sculptures in different shapes and positions. These are part of an installation called “You Are Here.”

Photo by Justin Chao

Event Schedule:

1. I can take the train or bus, drive, or walk to Lincoln Center.

The show will start at 12:00 pm and I will plan to arrive early. My e-ticket has my timed entry.
If I am early, I may want to use the restroom, get a snack, or visit The GREEN.

2. When I get to 65th Street, between Amsterdam and Columbus Avenues, I'll show my e-ticket and take either the stairs or elevator to the Plaza level. I may need to wait in line here.

3. I may go through a security screening and/or bag check. If I need earplugs, I can ask for them at the Accessibility Table. Then I will go to my assigned pod.

4. I will enjoy the performance from my pod. Each performance lasts about an hour.

5. Last, when the performance is over, I will applaud and say goodbye!

During the program I will meet...

Security Guards

They keep our campus safe.

They may need to check our bags when we arrive.

Lincoln Center Staff

They will check my ticket at the entrance and help me find my seat.

I can ask for directions and where to find the restroom.

Key Words:

Pod

A pod is a socially distanced, designated seating area for small groups of people.

Each pod includes armless chairs. They are a minimum of 3 ft distance from other pods. All seats are located on accessible routes and can be removed to make space for mobility devices.

What should I notice during the program:

1. What do I notice about the performers?

- What stories are they telling?
- How do they move while they are performing?
- What do they sound like?

2. What do I notice about myself?

- How am I moving in the space?
- What sounds am I hearing?
- What stories are my favorite?

3. What do I notice about the space?

- What am I seeing in the outdoor space?
- What are other people's reactions to the performance?
- What movements are they making?

Extension Questions:

When I think about this performance...

- What was my favorite part of this performance?
- What did I learn during the performance?
- What surprised me during the performance?