A photograph of a group of people standing under umbrellas in the rain. The scene is captured from behind them, showing they are looking back over their shoulders. A man in a bright yellow-green jacket is on the right, holding a dark umbrella. Two women are in the center, one with curly hair and one with a ponytail, both looking back. The background is blurred, showing a building and a street lamp. The text 'Circling back looking ahead' is overlaid in white. The bottom of the image has a torn paper effect, revealing a black background.
