New Food Trucks to Hit the Streets of Boston this Spring

BOSTON, MA (April 2, 2014): Boston has always had a great dining scene, and now there's a new option – food trucks! The food truck phenomenon has grown substantially over the past few years throughout the city of Boston. From Thai to Barbecue to Grilled Cheese to Cupcakes there are numerous delicious choices to choose from.

With nicer weather right around the corner, it is a perfect time to share some of the new trucks visitors and Bostonians will be able to find serving up their tasty bites around the city.

Marblehead, Massachusetts own Evans New York Style Deli will be making its journey to Boston on April 1st. Offering a variety of deli sandwiches, this food truck will be driving around seven days a week and can be spotted on the Greenway, Back Bay, Cleveland Circle, Seaport District and the South End. Don't miss their fan favorite pastrami!

Zo, a Greek take-out hotspot located in both Boston's Faneuil Hall and Government Center, is launching Zo on the Go. To be seen on the streets this April, Zo on the Go will offer their authentic gyros the city of Boston has already embraced.

Get Stoked! Who doesn't love wood-fired pizza? Coming soon, the Stoked Wood Fire Pizza Co. truck, traveling with an actual wood-fired pizza oven inside, will be offering this beloved style around the city. Slated to be available early this spring, this will be the only truck of its kind.

Follow the Moyzilla food truck to enjoy their yakitori and dumplings. This "kitchen" is all about offering honest, homemade delicious food. With their hand cut meats and homemade sauces this truck is a must try. Moyzilla will also be present at numerous festivals in and around the Boston area.

Posto, a restaurant located in Davis Square, will be debuting their food truck later this summer. Set to operate five days a week, this truck will be serving up their popular Neapolitan pizzas and delicious pastas to the streets of Boston.

How do you choose? Whether you have a favorite style of food you are looking for or are in need of an option close to the office, the City of Boston offers an online schedule allowing you to view each trucks daily schedule and locations and also a link to their websites.
