

The PRADO in Santa Fe

PARTNERS INVITE YOU TO

Adopt a Masterpiece

For the first time ever in the United States, the Museo del Prado in Madrid will host an outdoor exhibition in Santa Fe, one of the oldest Spanish cities in the country.

This exciting exhibition contains 92 full scale and high quality reproductions of masterpieces in the Prado collection which can be sponsored by corporations or individuals.

Join us for refreshments and a short presentation by David Setford, executive director of the Spanish colonial Arts Society and learn how you can be a part of this summer's exciting Prado in Santa Fe exhibition!
