JOHN HARRIS-SIMON CAMERON MANSION

The Historical Society of Dauphin County administers the John Harris-Simon Cameron Mansion. The mansion was built c. 1766 by John Harris, Jr., pioneer trader and ferry operator and one of the founders of Harrisburg. In 1863, it was purchased by Simon Cameron, Pennsylvania politician, U.S. Senator, and Lincoln's first Secretary of War. Cameron transformed the Georgian house into a stylish Victorian mansion and lived there until his death in 1899. The mansion is furnished with period pieces, some belonging to both Harris and Cameron. Among the rooms you will see are the grand Victorian parlor, Cameron's office, both Colonial- and Victorian-style bedrooms, and a spectacular Art Deco bathroom installed by the last owner in 1929.

HARRISBURG HERSHEY TOURS, TALKS AND WALKS

Hershey-Harrisburg Tours, Talks & Walks offers a unique step-on-guide service to individuals or groups. We make arrangements to “showcase” our city, telling how, why, when and where it was founded. In 1717, John Harris, with a charter from William Penn’s proprietors set out to establish this community on the Susquehanna River. The town blossomed with industrious people. Despite wars and economics, the community grew. It became the “crossroads” of 7,000 years of Native American Indians, colonists, businessmen, and politicians. Stagecoaches, canals, railroads, airlines, and excellent highways gave this abundant agricultural land the most accommodating opportunities possible. Today, Hershey-Harrisburg Tours presents guests with an opportunity to learn about our city.
