10. Newport, Rhode Island

- Why We Love It: New England charm, history, architecture
- Where to Stay: Mill Street Inn (from $145/night), Brenton Hotel (from $279/night)

While the masses may flock to Newport in the summer, this heritage-rich coastal enclave is pretty much guaranteed to reignite passion in the slower, frostier months. A blanket of glittering white snow covers the opulent Gilded Age mansions. There are tons of festive events and storefronts twinkle with lights. A chill in the air invites extra cuddles and sipping mulled cider overlooking the harbor. It's also way easier to score coveted reservations at beloved restaurants like Clarke Cooke House and Giusto.
