

This Year's Top Wine Harvest Festivals & Grape Stomping Events

For winemakers and wine drinkers alike, there's hardly a more highly-anticipated time of the year. As we speak, labels across the northern hemisphere are washing their fruit bins and swelling their barrels, setting the table for the arrival of yet another vintage. Given the heat this year, some producers are already knee-deep in the process. Harvest is here, and with it comes the opportunity to partake in a range of exciting wine festivals and harvest-related events.

Each year, we compile a list of exciting experiences that are well worth enjoying. From grape stomping to coastal food & wine festivals, the opportunities are endless. But first, let's talk a little bit about what makes this season unique.
