Best for history buffs.

Head to Newport for your honeymoon if you're seeking a serious dose of classic romance. The seaside town became famous for attracting the who's who of society during the Gilded Age, and many of those glamorous elements remain today. The local hotels are luxurious yet quaint, with many offering panoramic ocean views to boot. Plus, you can walk along one of the most stunning paths in the country — the Cliff Walk — while popping into the famous mansions that line it. (Know, though, that one stretch of the famous path is closed indefinitely for repairs, so the current route includes a detour away from the water.) When you've worked up an appetite, head to the charming wharf for some of America's best seafood.
