

Hasegawa Captures Destination Grapevine Texas Women's Open

Rios (a) Claims Low Amateur Honors

GRAPEVINE, Texas (May 29, 2026) – Sera Hasegawa of Waco, TX, and who currently resides in Japan, is the 2026 Destination Grapevine Texas Women's Open Champion. After carding an impressive final round low score of 8-under-par, 64, her great round put her into a sudden-death playoff with three others and came out victorious after making back-to-back birdies on the 18th hole. She bested defending champion Sadie Englemann, Abbey Daniel and Katie Lu. All four competitors finished the tournament at 14-under-par.

Hasegawa started her round with three straight birdies and an additional three before making the turn. She made bogey on hole #10, her only one of the day, before making three additional birdies coming in.

Her Championship rounds were 66-72-64–202, 14-under-par, giving Sera her first professional win and etching her name in Texas Women's Open history.

"In Japan, we don't have this kind of tournament, so that's the reason I'm here. I really appreciate all of your support. I enjoy the play here," Hasegawa said. "I didn't even set a goal today. I just felt like, okay, one shot, one moment, like that's it."

Sadie Englemann, defending champion, unfortunately, saw her four-stroke lead diminish after an up-and-down round where she finished at 1-under. It was still enough to get her into the playoff, but after missing her birdie putt on the first hole of the playoff, her aspiration of going back-to-back fell just a bit short.

With her victory today, Hasegawa earned $13,250, a crystal trophy, a pair of custom-painted boots courtesy of RTown Art Gallery, and an exemption into the Epson Tour's Island Resort Championship in late June.

Thanks to the partnership between the ANNIKA Women's All Pro Tour and the Northern Texas PGA, the exemptions were made possible. Katie Lu of Aiken, SC, who was the runner-up in the playoff, also earned an Epson Tour exemption today.

Lauren Rios (a) of Coppell, TX, was awarded the Championship's low amateur honor. She carded rounds of 73-68-67–208, 8-under-par, and finished in a tie for 12th place.

This is the third year in a row that she has played in the Championship. She will be a fifth year at UTSA this coming semester.

When asked about her rounds and the low amateur honor, Lauren stated, "It feels amazing, honestly, my only goal here was to make the cut with all the pros in it, so this is just amazing. My putter was on fire, so that really helped. But I'm glad I just kept it together to finish strong."

Two college scholarships were awarded today after play to two Ewing Automotive NTPGA Junior Tour members. Audrey McCallum of Grapevine, TX, was awarded the Destination Grapevine Texas Women's Open Scholarship totaling $5,000, and Alicia Bellendir of Coppell, TX, was awarded the $2,500 ANNIKA Foundation scholarship.

Thanks to Grapevine Convention & Visitors Bureau and ANNIKA Women's All Pro Tour (WAPT) for their support of the Destination Grapevine Texas Women's Open. This Championship is an official points and money list event on the WAPT schedule.

The Championship will return to Grapevine Golf Course June 2-4, 2027.
