COAST

GULLAH GEECHEE SEAFOOD TRAIL

This trail, rooted in the rich traditions of the Gullah Geechee community, highlights seafood businesses and cultural landmarks along the coast. The project aims to preserve maritime heritage through extensive community engagement and collaboration, support Gullah Geechee-owned enterprises, and foster sustainable tourism. From booking hands-on experiences like Casual Crabbing with Tia to enjoying restaurants like Hannibal's in Charleston to attending events like the Gullah Heritage Festival, visitors can experience the importance of local seafood in Gullah cuisine. ### GREENVILLE

EUGENIA DUKE'S UNOFFICIAL MAYO GUIDE

This flavorful self-guided journey celebrates the legacy of Eugenia Duke, who founded Duke's Mayo in 1917. From its humble beginnings on sandwiches sold to World War I soldiers to its iconic bottling location at the Wyche Pavilion, Duke's Mayo is deeply rooted in Greenville's history. Explore 20 delectable stops on the trail, featuring snacks and entrees infused with Duke's creamy goodness like smoked Carolina fish dip and beef carpaccio. But it's not just about the food; four historical stops add depth to your culinary voyage. visitgreenvillesc.com
