AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATER nurtures the art of live theater through dynamic productions, intensive actor training in its conservatory, and an ongoing dialogue with its community. Under the leadership of Artistic Director Carey Perloff, A.C.T. embraces its responsibility to conserve, renew, and reinvent its relationship to the rich theatrical traditions and literatures that are our collective legacy, while exploring new artistic forms and new communities. A commitment to the highest standards informs every aspect of A.C.T.'s creative work.

Founded in 1965 by William Ball, A.C.T. opened its first San Francisco season at the Geary Theater in 1967. In the 1970s, A.C.T. solidified its national and international reputation, winning a Tony Award for outstanding theater performance and training in 1979. During the past three decades, more than 300 A.C.T. productions have been performed to a combined audience of seven million people; today, A.C.T.'s performance, education, and outreach programs annually reach more than 200,000 people in the San Francisco Bay Area. Last year, A.C.T.'s efforts to develop creative talent for the theater were recognized with the prestigious Jujamcyn Theaters Award.

Since Perloff's appointment in 1992, A.C.T. has enjoyed continued success with groundbreaking productions of classical works and bold explorations of contemporary playwriting. Guided by Perloff and managing director Heather Kitchen, A.C.T. has expanded its audience base and produced challenging theater in the rich context of symposia, audience discussions, and community interaction.

The conservatory, now serving 1,400 students every year, was the first training program not affiliated with a college or university accredited to award a master of fine arts degree. Danny Glover, Annette Bening, Denzel Washington, and Winona Ryder are among the conservatory's distinguished former students. With the 1995 appointment of Melissa Smith as conservatory director, A.C.T. renewed its commitment to excellence in actor training and to the relationship between training, performance, and audience. The A.C.T. Advanced Training Program has moved to the forefront of America's actor training programs, while serving as the creative engine of the company at large.

FROM DARKNESS INTO THE LIGHT

by Laird Williamson

Once upon a time, Charles Dicken’s wrote “a ghost story of Christmas,” hoping to change the lives of those who read his inspirational tale. Dickens’s enchanting conjuration of ghosts was animated by a passionate concern for the gloomy condition of contemporary society in England, where the industrial revolution and economic depression had begun to manufacture an atmosphere of indifference. Social injustice was epidemic: children labored under appalling conditions, and for the most part the mass of society lived lives of grinding poverty.

Instead of writing a pedantic pamphlet intended to clarify the life of the poor to those who found themselves better off, however, Dickens launched upon a work he believed would be much more powerful. “By the end of the year,” he said in 1843, “you will certainly feel that a sledgehammer has come down with 20 times the force—20 times the force!—I could exert by following my first idea.” He was auguring the creation of A Christmas Carol.

We cannot gauge to what degree his book assuaged the ills of Victorian society. We do know, however, that Dickens resurrected Christmas. At a time when the old holiday festivities were on the decline, he reconstructed a model for the season which embraced sparking merriment, warm openheartedness, piping hospitality, bright fires, glowing faces, radiant spirits, flickering laughter, and a dazzling generosity. His “sledgehammer” blow was more like a warm breath thawing a frozen heart. By rekindling an almost extinguished flame, Dickens’s name forevermore was made synonymous with Christmas. And his hope that humanity’s estate could become “a warm and glowing celebration of sympathy and love” became much more than just a flickering dream.

Dickens believed that the diseases of industrial society could only be cured by a profound revolution within the individual human spirit. So Ebenezer Scrooge came to be. Scrooge epitomizes the “utilitarian man” of the age, a man whose existence is driven solely by the accumulation of wealth. He embodies the mercenary indifference of the prosperous classes who believe that their responsibility for their fellow human beings is fulfilled once they have paid their taxes. The redemption of Dickens’s seemingly irredeemable miser signals the possibility of redemption for the apparently irredeemable spirit of all mankind.

In this production of A Christmas Carol and the adaptation created for it, we have imagined Scrooge’s world to be one of shut-up boxes, cases, and cupboards—coffins of his memories, strongholds into which his feelings have long since retreated. Out of the pain of existence, Scrooge has constructed elaborate receptacles for his life. He has created his own “hiding place.” Fragments of the past are sealed in keepsake boxes; the wardrobes, shelves, and drawers have become the hosts of his psychological essence. His heart confides in no one. In the chests and caskets his secrets lie dormant. In dark coffers Scrooge’s inner life has become entombed.

The strains of an antique carol, the haunting mental image of Jacob Marley, the premonition of his own physical death, and the power of Christmas itself force Scrooge to journey inward. The locks and latches on the compartments of his memory spring open. From the aggregation of remembrances emerge the neglected wonders of human experience. His life begins to transform. Scrooge, the failed human being, is rejuvenated by encounters with impressions of his childhood. He is awed, moved, stirred by natural feelings he has denied for a long, long time. The marvelous joy, laughter, and pain of each illusion, the scenes of affection and brotherhood between family and friends, bring him closer to his most dreaded fear: a loveless and lonely death.

It is at the moment when Scrooge comes face to face with his imminent death that Christmas happens. Out of the primal event of light and life returning to the earth at the deaddest time of the year, Scrooge is reborn in the darkest time of his life. He becomes a child again. He sheds the shackles he formed by locking out his childhood and his youth, and by abdicating his maturity to a hostile, indifferent world. He becomes the hammering reminder of Dickens’s insistence that society has a profound responsibility for each individual life on this planet. He becomes one with all births, the embodiment of the renewal that is life. Scrooge represents the baby of whom R. D. Laing speaks, who brings the “possibility of reprieve,” who is a “potential prophet, a new spiritual prince, a new spark of light precipitated into the outer darkness.” Scrooge’s story is the essence of Christmas itself. ■

THE CHILDREN OF A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Each production of A Christmas Carol becomes a holiday adventure for a host of young people from the A.C.T. Young Conservatory (YC). These talented and dedicated students have the unique opportunity to extend their theatrical education by participating in a professional production from first rehearsal to final applause.

The cast of this season’s Christmas Carol includes the following students selected from the YC’s 1997 fall session:

Dillan Arrick (8) is a third-grade student at San Francisco Day School and studies musical theater in the YC. She enjoys tennis, ballet, and singing. Natalie Bartlett (15) attends Bishop O’Dowd High School; she appeared in A.C.T.’s Christmas Carol last season and performed a leading role in The Little Prince at ACMT. She plans to continue her acting studies in college. Samantha Bettinger (12) has attended the YC for two years and performed in A.C.T.’s Christmas Carol last season; she is in the seventh grade at Raskob Day School, where her favorite subject is math. She also enjoys traveling. Lynette Brown (8) is a third grader at the Freeman School; she studies piano and plays soccer. The love of her life is her 85-pound Stratfordshire terrier, Isis. Lexi Clegg (9) is a fourth grader at the Kittredge School, where she plays volleyball. Her previous theatrical experience includes the role of Piglet in Winnie-the-Pooh. Troy Guthrie (11) is a sixth-grade student at Will C. Wood Middle School and has taken private acting and voice lessons for two years. He is a big 49ers fan. Martin Hanson (11) is a sixth-grade student at Burlingame Intermediate School; he also plays the saxophone and has sung solos from Oliver at his school and church. He enjoys tennis, swimming, and skiing. John Lewis (12) played leading roles in George Washington and Macbeth at Orinda Intermediate School, has performed at the Kennedy Center with the Children of the Gospel Mass Choir, and studies piano, cello, and saxophone. Julia Mattison (9) performed in A.C.T.'s Christmas Carol last year; a student at San Francisco Day School, she also studies ballet and piano. She has a dog, a hamster, and two fish. Her favorite sport is baseball and she loves singing. Elvin McRae (9), a third grader at Sun Valley Elementary, made his stage debut in A Christmas Carol last season. He plays basketball and practices drums in his spare time. Jena McRae (12) joins her brother onstage in this production; she is in the seventh grade at Davidson Middle School and has acted in Once Upon a Mattress, Oliver, and The Music Man at the San Rafael Young Performer's Theatre. She also plays French horn in her school's advanced band. Nicholas Padilla (10) is a student at Ray Cloud Elementary School and has acted in three productions at the Pied Piper Theater of Palo Alto. Julia Roux (14) is a ninth-grade student at St. Helena High School; her acting credits include Bye, Bye Birdie, The Gift of the Magi, Peter Pan, and 100 Years of Broadway at the Napa Valley Community Theater and Sofia Coppola's film Lick the Star.

Summer Serafin (18) has appeared in the YC's productions of Laura Dennis, And They Danced Real Slow in Jackson, and Analise. She has performed with the Lampionettes and Sacramento Ballet. Gregory Weller (9) portrayed Tiny Tim in A Christmas Carol last season; he attends Joaquin Miller School, where he studies clarinet, and is in his second year in the YC; his favorite sport is baseball.
A.C.T.'s popular symposium series continues in its fifth provocative season. Join us on selected Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Geary Theater for in-depth, entertaining discussions. This year’s symposia feature panels of scholars and theater professionals engaged in an ongoing exploration of the themes that link several of the plays in A.C.T.'s 1997–98 season.

THE A.C.T. ADVANCED TRAINING PROGRAM
CLASS OF 1998

American Conservatory Theater is both a producing theater and a conservatory. From the company’s first season in San Francisco in 1967, a passionate commitment to the ongoing training of theater artists has been a fundamental part of its philosophy. With a wide variety of programs, the A.C.T. Conservatory underscores the responsibility of mature artists to pass on what they have learned over the years to younger members of the profession.

A.C.T. was the first fully accredited independent theater in the nation to grant a master of fine arts degree (M.F.A.) to students who train within its ranks. This season, 47 students are in residence in the Advanced Training Program (ATP), the cornerstone of the conservatory. Formerly a two-year certificate program (with the option of earning an M.F.A.), the ATP was recently expanded to include a mandatory third year of study emphasizing public performance and culminating in the award of the advanced degree. (The graduating class of the year 2000, who entered the program this fall, will be the first to complete all three years within the new program.)

Each year hundreds of talented young actors from all over the country audition to receive their training in the ATP, which is the conservatory’s most rigorous component. Each student receives intensive training in the classroom, as well as practical experience in the rehearsal and performance of full-length dramatic works, from the classical to the contemporary, directed by leading members of the theatrical profession.

In addition to the regular curriculum, ATP students also benefit regularly from instruction by visiting theater artists. In December second-year ATP students engage in an intensive two-week language and character workshop with Giles Havergal, artistic director of Glasgow’s Citizen’s Theatre and director of last season’s hit Travels with My Aunt. While at A.C.T. this month, Havergal also directs a staged reading, cast with ATP students and professional actors, of Sean O’Casey’s Juno and the Paycock. This season, for the first time, second-year ATP students will also be featured in mainstage productions. Timothy Hull, Thomas Nieto, and Darby Stanchfield appear in A Christmas Carol, and Raphael Peacock will appear in Insurrection: Holding History.

A.C.T. is proud to introduce the talented members of the ATP’s second-year class, who will graduate in May 1998. Look for them on stages and screens everywhere!

For information about A.C.T. Conservatory programs, call (415) 439-2350

BEYOND THE ATP

In addition to the talented young artists in the Advanced Training Program, more than 1,300 students receive short-term or part-time theater education in Studio A.C.T. (a weekend and evening program of classes for people 18 and older, at all levels of interest and experience) and the nine-week Summer Training Congress. Studio A.C.T.’s ten-week winter session begins January 5. The Young Conservatory, which offers classes to young people from 8 to 18 years old, is also accepting applications for its winter/spring session, February 17–May 18 (orientation begins February 7). The Young Conservatory’s renowned Senior Performance Workshop features Mark Lieb’s Terry Won’t Talk, directed by A.C.T. alumnus Tom Kane. Performances take place January 16, 17, and 18.
INTRODUCING THE 1997-98 A.C.T. PROFESSIONAL THEATER INTERNS

A.C.T. introduces the 1997-98 Professional Theater Interns (PTIs), recent graduates of the Advanced Training Program who continue their training with professional company members on the mainstage in several productions this season. PTIs, including A Christmas Carol's Cindy Cheung, Dawn-Elin Fraser, LaKeith Hoskin, Omar Metwally, and Terri Mowrey, are selected each year in accordance with the casting needs of the upcoming season's plays. (Classmate Anika Frome Rose has been cast in Insurrection: Holding History; additional PTIs may be chosen later in the season.) Every PTI earns membership in the Actors' Equity Association union as a paid performer. The PTI apprenticeship, with its packed rehearsal and performance schedules, is an introduction to the exhilarating and hectic life of the professional actor.

All PTIs are sponsored by fellowships. For information about sponsorship opportunities, contact A.C.T. Development Director John Loder at (415) 439-2308.

In 1993, Perloff directed the world premiere of Steve Reich and Beryl Korot’s opera The Cave at the Vienna Festival and the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Before joining A.C.T., Perloff was artistic director of CSC Repertory (the Classic Stage Company) in New York, where she directed the world premiere of Ezra Pound’s Elektra with Pamela Reed and Nancy Marchand; the American premiere of Harold Pinter’s Mountain Language and The Birthday Party with Joan Stapleton, David Strathairn, and Peter Riegert; Bertold Brecht’s Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui with John Turturro and Katherine Borowitz; and many other classic works. Under Perloff’s leadership, CSC won the 1988 Obie Award for artistic excellence, as well as numerous Obies for acting, design, and direction.

Perloff received a B.A. (Phi Beta Kappa) in classics and comparative literature from Stanford University and was a Fulbright Fellow at Oxford University. She was on the faculty of the Free University of Berlin and has taught at New York University for seven years and currently teaches and directs in the A.C.T. Advanced Training Program.

This season at A.C.T. Perloff directs Pinter’s Old Times, featuring Turturro and Borowitz, and the world premiere of Michael Feingold’s new translation of Friedrich Schiller’s Maria Stuart.

HEATHER KITCHEN (Managing Director) joined A.C.T. as managing director in November 1996. She has extensive experience in theater management and production, has served as a strategic planning consultant for arts and educational institutions, and has taught for more than 20 years throughout Canada. Prior to her work at the Citadel, she was production manager at Theatre New Brunswick for three years. MELISSA SMITH (Conservatory Director), the master acting teacher of the A.C.T. Advanced Training Program, has taught acting to students of all ages throughout the United States. Before assuming leadership of the A.C.T. Conservatory in 1995, she was director of the program in theater and dance at Princeton University, where she taught acting, scene study, and continued on page 44

He also stage-managed the Broadway productions of And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little and George (a musical by Carole Bayer Sager), as well as the national tour of Woody Allen's Play It Again, Sam. On Broadway he produced Bean's Little Eyolf (directed by Marshall W. Mason) and Shaw's Arms and the Man. Haire joined A.C.T. in 1971. He and his department were awarded Theater Crafts International's award for excellence in the theater in 1989, and in 1992 Haire was awarded a lifetime achievement award by the Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle.

An award-winning educator, Slights is a consultant to the Educational Theater Association and the National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts and is a frequent guest speaker and adjudicator throughout the country. He has published eight anthologies for young actors, three of which have been selected by the New York Public Library as "outstanding books for the teenager." In 1989, he founded the Young Conservatory's New Plays Program; to date 11 new works by professional playwrights have been developed, nine of which have been published by Smith & Kraus in two volumes of New Plays from A.C.T.'s Young Conservatory.

TAKE STOCK IN A.C.T.
There are many creative ways to give to A.C.T. All are tax deductible, but recent increases in stock and mutual fund prices also offer A.C.T. donors a tremendous opportunity to:

Avoid capital gains taxes on the sale of appreciated stock;
Create an income-tax deduction equal to the fair-market value of the stock at the time of transfer; and Generate a more significant gift than if you were just writing a check.

Additional ways to contribute to A.C.T.'s success include:
Cash—one of the most familiar ways to give;
Property—most real estate and personal property qualify as tax-deductible charitable gifts; and Life insurance—the cash value of your current paid-up life insurance policy can benefit A.C.T.

PLANNED GIVING
Many people who could not otherwise contribute to A.C.T. as generously as they would like find they are able to do so with a carefully planned gift. You can make a valuable long-term contribution to great theater by:

Making a bequest to A.C.T.—please let us know if you have included A.C.T. in your will or estate plans; or

Creating a life-income charitable trust with A.C.T.—you can gain an immediate and substantial tax deduction, increased annual income paid to you for life, freedom from investment worries, and avoidance of capital gains taxes when you transfer appreciated property to a charitable remainder trust.
