Now. It's a satisfying decision.

Like many people you may recently have switched to a lower tar cigarette, with milder flavor.

But as your tastes have changed, you may have found yourself reaching for a cigarette even lower in tar. An ultra-low tar alternative that satisfies your new tastes in smoking.

Then the decision is Now.

Now has only 2 mg. tar. And bear this in mind: today's Now has the most satisfying taste in any cigarette so low in tar.

Only 2 mg tar. Significantly lower than 98% of all cigarettes sold.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

FILTER, MENTHOL: 2 mg. "tar", .2 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC method.

THANK YOU . . .

The entire company joins me in saluting every one of our subscribers for their support of A.C.T. and their faith in the quality of our work.

Thanks to your patronage and your belief in the goals of our company, we now pay approximately 78 percent of our own way. In other words, more than three-quarters of our annual operating budget of $5,125,000 represents income earned by A.C.T. itself, a ratio that very few major performing arts organizations across the country can even approach.

The remaining twenty-two percent of the budget must come from national and regional foundations, federal and municipal government and, most important of all, from Northern California individuals, groups, businesses and corporations through funds raised by our local sponsor, the California Association for A.C.T.

This month, the Association has mailed to subscribers and past contributors a new brochure describing its work and outlining membership plans. Additional copies are available through the Association office here at A.C.T. As the brochure points out, membership in the Association needn't be costly and carries with it special benefits and privileges not available to the general public. So if you aren't already a member, please consider joining and help us meet the challenge of inflation-induced cost increases in every department.

We were pleased to have been selected as the first resident professional American theatre company ever to appear in Japan and deeply moved by the kindness and hospitality of the Japanese people during our Tokyo engagement last July. Now, with equal pleasure, we welcome you to the Geary Theatre where we look forward to seeing you throughout the 1978-79 San Francisco repertory season.

Thank you for being with us.

IS IT WORTH RISKING YOUR LIFE FOR 45 MILES PER GALLON?

Tiny little subcompact cars may be great for saving gas. But as accident statistics show, they're not particularly safe.

A Volvo, on the other hand, gets a very respectable 29 m.p.g. highway — 19 m.p.g. city.* But ultimately, we put a much higher premium on life than we do on gasoline.

The roomy passenger compartment of a Volvo is surrounded by six steel pillars, each one strong enough to support the weight of the entire car.

Crumple zones, front and rear are designed to absorb the impact of a collision, rather than passing it on to the passengers.

As a matter of fact, the federal government is so impressed with Volvo's crash worthiness they've become one of our biggest customers. They bought more than 60 Volvos, many of which have been crashed into each other at closing speeds of up to 90 m.p.h. in an effort to establish safety standards for cars of the future.

So before you buy your next car, weigh carefully what you have to gain and lose.

A big substantial Volvo can not only save gas. It could end up conserving something much more precious.

'THE WINTER'S TALE AT A.C.T.: A FAIRY TALE FOR YOUNG AND OLD

One of the least-produced works in the Shakespearean canon, The Winter's Tale is perhaps the great undiscovered masterpiece—a sweeping allegory of life, death, and rebirth told with all the charm and simplicity of a classic fairy tale.

There are several reasons why The Winter's Tale has been seen so little in production. One of Shakespeare's last works, from his mystical, romantic period that included The Tempest, The Winter's Tale appeared in 1611, shortly before England's theatres were closed for 38 years under Puritan rule. When public theatres reopened in 1660, tastes in drama had radically changed, dominated by a neo-classical aesthetic that rejected plays like The Winter's Tale which supposedly violated the classical "unities" of time, place, and action, or dealt with fantastic or visionary themes.

The resultant notion that The Winter's Tale was a disjointed composition has influenced its criticism and acceptance almost to the present day.

A close examination, however, shows these "flaws" of The Winter's Tale to be its hidden strengths, and in some cases the entire thematic point of the play.

The story relates the misfortune of King Leontes, monarch of a mythical Sicily, who is seized by an overpowering jealousy when his wife Hermione persuades their friend Polixenes, King of Bohemia, to extend his visit in their land. Nothing can dissuade Leontes from his obsessive conviction that his wife has been unfaithful.

Hermione is imprisoned, and their infant Perdita is exposed to the elements. When the Oracle is consulted and proclaims Hermione innocent, Leontes still insists on his wife's guilt. But in defying the gods he has gone too far—immediately his son falls dead and word also reaches him of Hermione's death.

Rather than continue his story as a tragedy, Shakespeare instead switches the scene to sunny Bohemia, where time heals old wounds and Perdita is raised in a simpler world of country rogues, sheep-shearing festivals, and natural beauty. When Leontes' time of repentance is done, Shakespeare returns to Sicily for a miraculous reconciliation of the divided family and kingdom.

The Winter's Tale is actually a highly crafted play, despite complaints of some detractors. The three "worlds" of the play are closely linked to Leontes' stages of sin, repentance, and redemption (though the play's trappings are pre-Christian, the story is predated by a distinctly modern religious tone.) The influence of classical mythology, however, is distinctly evident, particularly the myth of Proserpine and Demeter in which prosperity, decline, and renewal are symbolized by the eternal cycle of the seasons, and the legend of Pygmalion and Galatea, which Shakespeare adapts delightfully for his denouement.

Shakespeare's final surprise, which has also been roundly criticized by scholars who have taken The Winter's Tale as a realistic rather than symbolic work, will not be revealed for the sake of audience members unfamiliar with the play. But in the final analysis, it is not important whether we accept the miracle as "real" or "unreal"; Shakespeare is appealing to us on a universal level of wish-fulfillment and happy dreams.

In his award-winning book The Uses of Enchantment, famed child psychologist Bruno Bettelheim examines the function of fairy tales in the lives of children, finding them to be rich allegories of childhood's developing awareness of the outside world, and the expanding levels of consciousness needed to deal with it. So too, The Winter's Tale is a kind of fairy tale for grownups, in which progressive states of consciousness are embodied in the events of the play. The conventions of Christian redemption hint at more universal patterns of self-renewal and self-actualization. Leontes is the spirit of mankind in a search for expanded awareness and joy. Such expansion is only possible through a renaissance of the self, and Shakespeare provides Leontes with rebirth on both literal and figurative levels.

Like a fairy story of old, The Winter's Tale depends on an audience's willing suspension of disbelief. The "logic" of the play exists on a preconscious, metaphysical plane rather than the level of everyday awareness. As such, its rewards are best experienced by the audience that will call forth childhood's forgotten sense of wonder, and let itself be simply entertained by the world's master storyteller.

Here in Saronno, we do it all for love.

Just as we have been doing for over 450 years. Ever since Amaretto, the drink of love, was first created in our little town.

To this very day, nobody makes love the way we do in Saronno. Here, we still make our beautiful Amaretto as we have for centuries. We allow the flavor to develop slowly, until it is elusive and mysterious. Until it is so soft and full, it brings neither a tear to the eye nor a bite to the throat. (Such is not love, caro.)

You can taste our exquisite Amaretto di Saronno straight up, or on the rocks, or in an intriguing mixed drink. You will see that with love, anything goes.

But please remember. Amaretto di Saronno is the one original drink of love. There are other amarettos you can buy. But why fool around with love?

MAYBE A BMW IS WORTH MORE USED BECAUSE IT'S WORTH MORE NEW.

Recently a man on the West Coast paid $5,772 for a 1975 2002 that cost $7,275 when it was new.

In the South, a man paid $6,000 for a 1974 2002 that cost $6,600 new.

In the East, a man paid $10,300 for a 1973 3.0CS that originally cost $12,000.

Exceptional examples? Surprisingly, no. While it is by no means a certainty that you will make money on your BMW 320i when you sell it, it is a certainty that the average BMW retains a considerably above-average percentage of its original price. For a five-year-old BMW, 75%-80% is not at all unusual.

EXTRAORDINARY PERFORMANCE IS THE ONLY THING THAT MAKES AN EXPENSIVE CAR WORTH THE MONEY.

Obviously, the value of a used car depends on the intrinsic value of the car itself.

The BMW 320i is a practical sedan designed by racing engineers. Perfected, unlike most expensive cars, not in the relative vacuum of the test track or laboratory but at places like Le Mans, Monte Carlo and the Nürburgring—where precision is crucial and agility and durability are more than just matters of theoretical speculation.

When you press the accelerator of the 320i, the two-liter, K-Jetronic, fuel-injected engine—the same basic engine that powers a majority of the world's Formula Two race cars—responds without lag.

Its suspension, independent on all four wheels—with McPherson struts and coil springs in front, semi-trailing arms and coil springs in the rear—is quick and clean through the corners.

Its rack and pinion steering is sharp and accurate.

"All told," say the editors of Car & Driver magazine "the 320i stands as eloquent rebuttal to all those who'd have us believe that small economical cars must be dull—and that automotive performance for the late 1970's is best achieved with decals..."

SERVICE AS EFFICIENT AND RELIABLE AS THE CAR ITSELF.

An automobile as thoroughly engineered and meticulously constructed as the BMW 320i deserves competent, reliable servicing.

While it would be inaccurate to claim perfection, it is, nevertheless, a fact that no more complete or innovative a technical training program exists in the automotive business than the one BMW mechanics are required to attend on a regular, yearly basis.

And this human wisdom combined with the inhuman perfection of costly computerized equipment assures rapid routine servicing, accurate engine tuning and diagnosis of any impending problem.

If you'd care to judge the BMW 320i for yourself, simply phone your BMW dealer and he'll arrange a thorough test drive for you at your convenience.

A.C.T.'S FESTIVE 'A CHRISTMAS CAROL' RETURNS TO GEARY AS ANNUAL HOLIDAY EVENT

"The walls and ceiling were so hung with living green, that it looked like a perfect grove... and such a mighty blaze was roaring up the chimney... Heaped on the floor were turkeys, geese, game, poultry, prawns, great joints of meat, suckling pigs, long wreaths of sausages, mince-pies, plum puddings, barrels of oysters, red-hot chestnuts, cherry-cheeked apples, juicy oranges, luscious pears, immense twelfth-cakes, and seething bowls of punch that made the chamber dim with their delicious steam."

Charles Dickens' immortal celebration of the holiday season, A Christmas Carol, is much more than a nostalgic souvenir of Yuletides past. It is a living document, one read by firesides around the world for generations. It is only appropriate that A.C.T. return to the Geary stage for a third consecutive year—in the true holiday spirit—its own dramatic version of the seasonal classic.

Dickens originally envisioned his tale as an indictment of the ills and inequities of Victorian society. The extent to which his little book actually promoted social reform cannot, of course, be measured; but if nothing else, A Christmas Carol revived the Yuletide ritual, which had sadly declined in the depression and gloom of 1843. In fact, it could be argued that Dickens invented, or at least re-invented the Christmas celebration as we have come to know it in modern times.

Dickens believed that society's malaise could be cured only by a profound revolution within the human spirit. Accordingly, he created Ebenezer Scrooge—mean, miserly, money-loving—who embodied the mercenary indifference of the industrial age. Dickens then proceeded to subject his creation to a series of wonders and apparitions which finally penetrated the miser's heart with a spiritual radiance.

A.C.T.'s festive adaptation by Laird Williamson and Dennis Powers emphasizes the human reality of Scrooge and his transformation, and is faithful to the original text and social conditions of Victorian England. Where other stage versions of A Christmas Carol have been sentimental to the point of coyness, A.C.T.'s version finds an exuberant theatricality within a framework that is at once true to life and the moral fervor of Dickens' intentions.

The story of the miser Scrooge and his miraculous change of heart distills the magic (and the hoped-for magic) of Christmas past, present, and to come. It carries the message to all people—men and women, boys and girls—to be touched by the spirit of Christmas, and, like Scrooge, discover their better, buried selves.

Enduring, colorful, populated with strikingly believable characters and spiced with a plummy seasonal seasoning, A Christmas Carol has more than demonstrated its appeal to young and old alike. A.C.T. is proud once more to present a spirited "fire-side rendition" of Dickens' sentimental favorite, made possible again through the generous sponsorship of the Standard Oil Company of California.

'A MONTH IN THE COUNTRY': AN IMPOSSIBLE LOVE TANGLE

Like so many of the great Russian playwrights, Ivan Turgenev forged his literary reputation in realistic fiction rather than on the stage. The naturalism we associate with masterworks of the Russian theatre owes much to their authors' novelistic concerns with subtleties of human character instead of the predictable machinations of plot.

In addition, theatre in Russia was subject to more stringent censorship than literature. It is not surprising that the 20th century has yet to produce a Russian playwright of the stature attained by the 19th century masters. It is more surprising that the 19th century masters chose to write for the theatre at all.

We are most fortunate that Turgenev did.

Best known for his novel Fathers and Sons, Turgenev's reputation as a dramatist rests primarily on one play, A Month in the Country, a lyrical comedy written in 1849. A Chekhovian meditation on affairs of the human heart, it was composed six years before Chekhov was born, and prefigures much of Chekhov's work.

A Month in the Country draws much of its emotional impetus from a triangular love affair that dominated Turgenev's real life for over forty years—one of the most remarkable menage a trois arrangements in literary history.

The object of Turgenev's attraction was the French opera singer Mme. Pauline Viardot. In 1840, she had married Louis Viardot, an art historian and writer twenty years her elder. Three years later she met Turgenev. Infatuation followed, and, although she was committed to another, Turgenev followed her travels from country to country. The three became inseparable.

In A Month in the Country Turgenev describes the disruption of a country estate by a similar circumstance. A young tutor is engaged by the head of the household. Both his wife Natalya and her 17 year-old ward Vera fall in love with the young man. To complicate matters, Natalya is also loved by a weak and ineffectual freeloader, Rakitin, who paradoxically becomes the play's hero. Natalya's husband assumes incorrectly that Rakitin is the object of his wife's current obsession, and Natalya incorrectly assumes that Vera is a serious rival for the tutor's affections.

Within this emotionally-charged framework, Turgenev deftly examines the subtle psychological maneuvering—often humorous—of his characters. He avoids any hint of melodrama; almost the entire "action" takes place in the minds of his protagonists—a theatrical revolution in its time.

In spite of its gentle, even harmless portrayal of an impossible love tangle, A Month in the Country ran into trouble with the Russian censors. It was not published for several years, and then only with the character of Natalya as a widow rather than a wife. The play was not produced until 1872, nearly a quarter century after its composition.

There has, perhaps, been too much emphasis placed on the "historical significance" of Turgenev's writing in his depiction of a certain stratum of Russian life now vanished. Often overlooked by contemporary critics are his uncanny powers of observation and depth of psychological insight which distinguish his plays from other works of the period. Though Turgenev's achievement was carried one step further by Chekhov, it was Turgenev who essentially founded the school of modern dramatic realism.

Like Chekhov, Turgenev's writing might well be called "centrifugal" in that the demands of psychological reality pull each character away from a central, artificial plot. Turgenev's characters tend to be absorbed in themselves or in others who in turn are absorbed in themselves or someone else. Dramatic conflict is achieved because inner desires conflict, not as the result of a forced situation. As one critic put it, we see "life as it is for real people rather than for puppets of stage contrivance."

'AH, WILDERNESS!': O'NEILL'S SENTIMENTAL 'JOURNEY'

and Thomas M. Nahrwold

When Eugene O'Neill's nostalgic comedy Ah, Wilderness! opened on Broadway in the fall of 1933, critics were startled by the brooding playwright's apparent change of heart. The man who had emerged as America's foremost dramatist of guilt, failure, and neurotic suffering had suddenly done an about-face, presenting the public with a wholesome portrait of American family life at the turn of the century—optimistic, life-affirming, completely devoid of tragic coloration.

Ah, Wilderness! was to be O'Neill's only such excursion into sunny climes. It was his first autobiographical work, an idealized family portrait of his boyhood days in New London, Connecticut. It is also his most frequently produced play, and has been in almost constant production for over 40 years. Such staying power testifies to the essential truth of O'Neill's portrait, although the "truth" of Ah, Wilderness! is a radically different one than we find in the more realistically drawn masterpiece A Long Day's Journey Into Night.

The similarities between the plays have often been remarked upon. Drama critic Walter Kerr called them "two pieces clapped together, back to back, like carved bookends, identical but facing in opposite directions." The casts of characters are uncannily similar, their characterizations are uncannily dissimilar. Many biographers have speculated that the rosy world of Ah, Wilderness! was O'Neill's first tentative experiment in autobiography, without which O'Neill might never have found the personal or artistic strength to pen the tragic side of his family's life in Long Day's Journey.

"My purpose," said O'Neill, was to write a play true to the spirit of the American large small-town at the turn of the century... It's the way I would have liked my boyhood to have been."

O'Neill often remarked cynically that he never had a real youth. The events of Ah, Wilderness! are clearly based on events of his own life in the summer of 1912, as were those of Long Day's Journey. In Ah, Wilderness! we meet the semi-autobiographical Miller family, whom O'Neill presents on the Fourth of July, 1906. Each member of the family celebrates the patriotic holiday in his or her own unique way. In particular, young Richard Miller (the O'Neill self-portrait) makes some new but universal discoveries about life and love through a romantic misunderstanding with his teenage sweetheart, and a starcrossed encounter with an older, "scarlet" woman.

O'Neill has taken certain liberties with the facts, however. Though he indeed had a schoolboy crush on a young woman, one Maibelle Scott ("Muriel McComber" in the play), O'Neill was no longer a schoolboy at the time. He was 23 and had behind him a marriage, a child, a separation, a suicide attempt, and debauched months in the squalor of Buenos Aires and New York. It is one of the great paradoxes of O'Neill's art that he could create a true and moving portrait of a young man's ascent into manhood from the events of his own, dissipated life.

He was never to create such a portrait again, though clearly the public would have welcomed more. But the very existence of Ah, Wilderness! raises fascinating and timeless questions about the delicate balance between comic and tragic sensibilities.

Theatre Library Needs Volunteer Help

Are you aware that there is a real, functioning library serving students and members of the company at A.C.T. and that it's not a leftover set from Travesties? The library is staffed entirely by volunteers during the hours of 12:00 noon to 6:45 p.m. If you are a trained librarian or willing to learn, A.C.T. can use your help—please call the Friends of A.C.T., (415) 771-3880.

Conservatory student, please contact Jane Armistage at 771-3880.

WANTED: A Pair of Strong Legs & A Sunny Disposition

A.C.T. needs volunteers to assist professional ushers and teachers at its weekly student matinee performances.

The bad news: You must arrive at 12:30 p.m. and usually stay until after the curtain (about 4:30 p.m., generally); you're on your feet a lot and must be able to make several treks to the second balcony.

The good news: You get a free seat for the performance and are invited to stay for the post-play discussion session. For further information, call the Friends of A.C.T. at (415) 771-3880.

RELEASING THE RESONANCE WITH EDITH SKINNER

"The theatre has a responsibility too often neglected...to foster the finest sound of spoken English."

So says Edith W. Skinner in the introduction to her best-selling textbook, Speak With Distinction. A distinguished teacher herself, Skinner joined the A.C.T. family in 1977 as an instructor for the Summer Training Congress and first year students, and as vocal coach for Julius Caesar. This season she returns to assist William Ball on The Winter's Tale, and also to conduct a special seminar for vocal teachers.

Skinner has had a long and accomplished career in the theatre. Originally appointed to the drama faculty at Carnegie Mellon University in 1937, she attained the rank of full professor and was named Andrew Mellon Professor from 1968-71 and later Visiting Professor. She has been a faculty member at New York's Juilliard School since its inception in 1966, and was awarded a National Endowment for the Arts fellowship to train teachers of speech.

She has acted as speech coach and consultant for The Guthrie Theatre, the APA Repertory Company, the Brooklyn Academy of Music, the Princeton University Theatre and the American Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford, Conn. Among her notable students have been performers Elizabeth Ashley, Dana Andrews, Rene Auberjonois, Claire Bloom, Ellen Burstyn, Zoe Caldwell, Peter Donat, Tovah Feldshuh, Katy Jurado, George Grizzard, Rosemary Harris, Rex Harrison, Nancy Marchand, Michael Moriarty, Ellis Rabb, Sada Thompson and Maria Tucci. Among the directors: Edward Payson Call, Frank Dunlap, Allen Fletcher, Michael Kahn, Edwin Sherin—and, while an undergraduate at Carnegie Mellon, William Ball.

"He was a brilliant student, and versatile. He studied acting, design, everything. But he did have a tendency to come late to class, as I recall," said Skinner with a smile. "Bill is one of those brilliant people who can also be inspiring, which doesn't always happen. A.C.T. is quite extraordinary, and I always recommended it to people looking for the best all-around training. There's no place else."

As vocal coach to productions here and elsewhere, Skinner usually sits in at the first rehearsal read-through, noting and anticipating areas needing vocal work by all cast members. She then works with each performer individually as necessary.

Skinner emphasizes "seven points of good speech" in her coaching, simple rules dealing basically with vowel production and "r" formations. She insists that North American actors playing classics speak as North Americans, not imitate "British" interpretations.

Good speech also depends on good material to be spoken. In modern playwriting, too, there is not the emphasis on language taken for granted in the classical theatre. Skinner found one notable example in Israel Horowitz, whose "Wakefield Cycle" of plays she recently coached for their specific New England dialects. "It's not every playwright who can find the rhythms of dialect as well as the surface sound, but Horowitz does it extremely well."

Skinner has found the rehearsals for The Winter's Tale "thrilling" in their success in making Shakespeare's language lucid. She will leave San Francisco after the production opens, and return to the Juilliard, her base of operations. She will undoubtedly continue to consult for major companies and productions. She is much in demand.

"For a while there was all the talk about 'method' and Lee Strasberg and no one was concerned with vocal projection. Now all that's changed. The voice is no longer tied up. The resonance is released."

Given the success of Edith Skinner's methods, audiences on both coasts can look forward to a veritable renaissance of resonant sounds!

IF YOU DON'T DECIDE WHO GETS YOUR ESTATE, THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA WILL.

Security Pacific Bank's new Personal Trust Course could save your family thousands of dollars and a lot of grief. Quickly, clearly it shows you how to preserve your assets the way professionals do.

Don't let that word estate fool you.

Everybody who has a home or a car or a few dollars in the bank has an estate—something they want to leave to the heirs they picked out, not somebody the state of California may choose.

Because we work so hard just trying to get along in this world, few of us ever learn how to conserve the things we earned in such a way that they go to those we love rather than to tax collectors and estate expenses.

Now Security Pacific Bank makes it easy for you to learn the techniques professionals use in planning estates.

It's called the Personal Trust Course—an easy-to-read, easy-to-understand series of eight lessons that quickly and clearly introduces you to the art of estate planning.

Individual lessons will guide you in all these subjects:

1. Estate Planning: A financial art
2. Property Ownership in Community Property State
3. The Will: A Cornerstone of the Estate Plan

4. Estate and Gift Taxes: Something you can Count On
5. Estate Settlement: Facing the Inevitable
6. Trusts: Flexible Plans for Economic Security
7. Investment Management—Hiring an Agent
8. The Trust Institution: What It Is, How It Functions

Every two weeks, you'll be mailed a different lesson and each will contain a short quiz so you can see how quickly you're learning. A handsome folder designed especially to protect and store the lessons is also included—as well as a complete estate planning record for your personal use.

Also included in the course is personal guidance by knowledgeable Security Pacific Bank Trust Officers. They'll be available to answer any questions that may arise as you go through the lessons as well as when you complete the course.

The tuition fee for the entire course is only $15.00—a small price when you consider that it may very well save your estate many thousands in taxes and probate costs.

Clip the coupon right now, while you're thinking about it. After you get your first lesson, read it carefully. And if at any time during the course you honestly don't feel the information is as helpful and as valuable as we said, return it and we'll return your $15.00. What could be more fair?

When Lorenzo Petroni and Chef Bruno Orsi started the North Beach Restaurant on Stockton Street, they vowed to serve the finest Cucina Toscana possible.

They still do.

Each morning they make their own pasta; they buy only the finest meats, vegetables, fish and cheese. They hang and cure their own prosciutto hams; cut and prepare the fresh veal in their kitchen and they taste and serve the finest of California and imported wines.

And now they have applied these same principles to a new restaurant located just around the corner on Grant Ave.

As the name implies, Basta Pasta specializes in fresh pasta and light entrees served in an atmosphere of casual elegance and old San Francisco charm, presided over by one of the most famous chefs in San Francisco.

THE FRIENDS OF A.C.T.: BOOSTERISM AT ITS BEST

The Friends of A.C.T. is the indispensable volunteer auxiliary to the American Conservatory Theatre. Composed of an executive committee, 450 active volunteers and a professional staff, the Friends support A.C.T. by meeting the varied and changing volunteer requirements of the company both in community relations and within the theatre organization itself.

"Volunteerism has met hard times as many women have returned to paying jobs," says new Friends president Nancy Maguire. "But volunteer work can provide much of the same personal satisfaction. A.C.T. is a place where volunteers are recognized and rewarded."

Maguire assumes the top volunteer post at A.C.T. after serving on the Friends executive committee and as chairman of the Friends' popular "Prologue" series of pre-performance discussions. A St. Louis native, Maguire moved to San Francisco in 1960. She has been active here in a variety of groups, including the Junior League, the San Francisco Puppet Guild, and most recently, Corporate Action for Public Schools.

Maguire described the Friends' recent and planned activities, including programs for contributor-members of the California Association for A.C.T.; the presentation of special events such as evenings with Tennessee Williams and Tom Stoppard to benefit A.C.T.'s student scholarship fund; organizing and manning annual phone campaigns for subscribers and contributors; conducting A.C.T.'s annual London Theatre Tour and backstage tours of the Geary Theatre itself.

Friends of A.C.T., the volunteer auxiliary supporting the company, package home made cookies for the annual "A Christmas Treat" variety show for senior citizens.

New Friends of A.C.T. President Nancy Maguire

Friends members also operate the TransACTION gift shop in the Geary lobby, assist Conservatory students in locating housing and jobs, provide hospitality for members of the company and visitors, and host A.C.T.'s annual company luncheon.

In addition, the Friends operates and staffs a theatre library for the company and Conservatory students, presents an annual Christmas program for senior citizens (in conjunction with the San Francisco Commission on the Aging); offers an annual theatre lecture series led by distinguished university professors, and, of course, the "Prologue" discussions for selected plays in the repertory, events co-sponsored this year by the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc.

A.C.T. volunteers donate thousands of hours of office work the theatre could never afford to buy. Volunteers have been called upon to find props, to take walk-on parts in A.C.T. productions, to serve meals between performances and provide endless other essential services.

To sum it up, A.C.T. volunteers are prepared to meet any challenge due to the tireless organizational efforts of the Friends of A.C.T.

The Friends executive committee for 1978-79 includes: Gray Atkinson (Sebastopol), Ruth Barton (Ross), Mrs. Alan Becker (San Francisco), Sandra Brown (San Francisco), Mrs. Gerald Colvin (Daly City), Mrs. Claude Dawson (San Francisco), Mrs. Charles DeLimur (San Francisco), Mrs. Frederick Fields (San Francisco) and Mrs. Howard Goodman (Daly City).

Others are Mrs. Jerome Gorodsky (San Mateo), Mrs. James Hill (San Francisco), Mrs. Anthony Hooker (Thurton), Rose Jacobs (San Francisco), Hilliard Katz (San Francisco), Mrs. Edward McCrum (Kentfield), Mrs. Benjamin Rose II (San Francisco), Mrs. James Vopicka (Burlingame) and Mrs. Ralph Wallerstein (San Francisco).

Coordinator for the Friends of A.C.T. is Mrs. Myer Kahn.

A Gentleman's Challenge from European Motors

Some of our showroom Mercedes-Benz are previously owned; can you tell which are new and which are used?

After considerable searching and some very careful trading, we now have in stock some 50 previously-owned Mercedes-Benz.

Unlike most dealers who keep their used cars on an outdoor lot, well apart from their new cars, we keep our late Mercedes-Benz indoors. Right alongside the new models.

Hence, the challenge. Drop by our showroom and look critically at all of the cars. Can you really tell which is the Mercedes-Benz fresh from Stuttgart and which is fresh from our exacting service department?

Can you actually determine the difference between the factory's high-gloss paint and the mirror-like finish we obtain when we repaint a car?

Examine the seat leather. Which was installed in Germany? Which was flown direct to us from Germany for a restoration project?

The point is—we do everything humanly possible to offer you the finest previously-owned Mercedes-Benz. So much so, in fact, that our excellent selection of SLs and SLCs comes remarkably close to achieving the perfection of the new models.

We hope you'll see for yourself soon.

GLOBE TROTTING COMPANY HAPPY TO BE HOME

If it wasn't exactly "The Bad News Bears Go to Japan," there were times during the American Conservatory Theatre's two-week July engagement in Tokyo when you'd have been hard-pressed to tell the difference.

For one thing, the 37-member touring contingent from San Francisco included three boys who doubled in the roles of sons and town bullies in the company's two touring productions, Tad Mosel's All the Way Home and Eugene O'Neill's Ah, Wilderness!

The Japanese press were charmed by the youngsters, questioning and photographing them endlessly at news conferences and receptions, as were the Imperial Prince and Princess Hitachi, who attended the opening performance and officially welcomed A.C.T. to Japan.

When the company toured the Soviet Union two years ago, all performances had been accompanied by simultaneous translations via headsets. But Japanese theatre representatives advised A.C.T. that Japanese audiences would find it intrusive. Instead, brief act-by-act synopses were recorded in Japanese and broadcast over the theatre's sound system at the end of each intermission.

As it turned out, the actors sensed that the Japanese audiences understood English well enough to follow the story of All the Way Home and respond to the jokes in Ah, Wilderness!

Greeted at the airport after an 8:30 a.m. arrival by company members armed with doughnuts, coffee and champagne, A.C.T. general director William Ball (right) expressed his delight at being home by dunking a doughnut in champagne and toasted San Francisco with greetings from Tokyo.

Poster in front of Tokyo's Sogetsu Kaikan Theatre which heralded A.C.T.'s arrival in Japan.

Japanese critical reception was as favorable as audiences were receptive.

In his review of All the Way Home, published in Japan's largest newspaper, Asahi Shimbun (co-sponsor of the tour, in tandem with the Japan-U.S. Friendship Commission), Prof. Yasuya Takahashi praised Mosel's 1960 adaptation of Agee's "Proust-like" novel A Death in the Family and Edward Hastings' direction for giving "this simple drama such substance." The review of Allen Fletcher's production of Ah, Wilderness! in the English-language Japan Times praised the ensemble acting as "high calibre."

As the first professional American theatre company ever to appear in Japan and the first theatre company of any kind to appear in the brand new Sogetsu Kaikan theatre, A.C.T. received the red carpet treatment at every turn. Company members were guests at the magnificent 12-year-old National Theatre and the older Kabuzika Theatre for performances of Kabuki drama, in which all the parts were played by men.

On the Fourth of July, the company's hotel—anachronistically called The Fairmont—threw the A.C.T. troupe an independence Day party following the performance of Ah, Wilderness! which itself revolved about a July 4th celebration. In a touching effort to recreate a traditional Independence Day table, the hotel chefs got their American holidays confused and served up platters of "Roast Tom of Turkey" with cranberry sauce amid cornucopian harvest-theme decorations.

The company loved it. But they're glad to be home.

WHO'S WHO IN THE COMPANY

WILLIAM BALL (General Director)

founded the American Conservatory Theatre in 1965. Beginning in the theatre as a designer, he soon turned to acting and appeared with regional companies and Shakespearean festivals across the country. Ball made his New York directorial debut with Chekhov's little-known Ivanov in an off-Broadway production that won the Obie and Vernon Rice Drama Desk Awards for 1958. The next few years found him directing at Houston's Alley Theatre, San Francisco's Actor's Workshop, Washington D.C.'s Arena Stage, San Diego's American Shakespeare Theatre, as well as staging several operas for the New York City Opera. His 1959 off-Broadway production of Under Milkwood won the Lola D'Annunzio and Outer Circle Critics' Awards. In 1962, his production of Six Characters in Search of an Author proved another multiple award-winner and enjoyed an extended run in New York. After directing at Canada's Stratford Festival, he returned to New York to write the libretto for an opera, Natalia Petrovna, with composer Lee Hoiby, based on A Month in the Country. In 1964, he directed Tartuffe and Homage to Shakespeare at Lincoln Center, then travelled to London to recreate his staging of Six Characters. A graduate of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, he has been the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship, a Ford Foundation directorial grant and an NBC-RCA Director's Fellowship. 'ALBEE DIRECTS ALBEE': A POWERFUL PERSONAL STATEMENT

The powerfully dramatic imagination of playwright Edward Albee exploded upon the stage in the late 1950s and early '60s with a scorching series of sardonic, disturbing one-act plays. The author of The Zoo Story, The Death of Bessie Smith, The American Dream and other works interpreted the American experience in a new, electrifying manner and left an impact on the theatre like few playwrights before or since.

Albee, of course, went on to write the controversial but immensely popular Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?, the Pulitzer Prize-winning A Delicate Balance and Seascape as well as other full-length works, but in many ways Albee's strengths as a playwright are showcased most brilliantly in his shorter works.

Now, the entire spectrum of Albee's career is reflected in three rotating evenings of one-act plays, directed by the author himself. Albee Directs Albee will be presented by A.C.T. in a special limited engagement at the Marines' Memorial Theater Oct. 24—Nov. 5.

"I've been sneaking up on this second career, this directorial thing, over the years," said Albee, who began directing revivals of his one-act plays as early as 1963. He also directed his Pulitzer Prize play Seascape for its Broadway premiere, as well as the highly-acclaimed 1976 revival of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? with Colleen Dewhurst and Ben Gazzara. And last season, for the Hartford (Conn.) Stage Company, he directed Angela Lansbury in the American stage premieres of his latest play duet, Counting the Ways and Listening.

In a recent New York Times interview, Albee discussed the challenges and difficulties of directing.

"I think not every playwright should direct his own work. But if you can stay sober, if you're reasonably articulate, know how to work with actors, and if you can remember what you intended when you wrote the play, and if you're willing to put up with the tedium—as well as the excitement—of directing, you can probably end up with a fair representation of your intentions."

In Albee Directs Albee, the playwright-turned-director has staged eight of his plays exactly as he wrote them, with an emphasis on the rhythms and cadences of language that is uniquely Albee's own.

The first of the three programs includes two of Albee's earliest successes, The Zoo Story and The American Dream, combining brilliant comedy and riveting drama.

The second program is a trio of early and later pieces, The Sandbox, Fam and Yam, and Box & Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, reflecting a wide range of theatrical approaches.

In the final program, Counting the Ways and Listening, language becomes a kind of music as the playwright explores a middle-aged marriage and the terrifying world of a madhouse.

Albee has always been a writer prone to controversy, and it is no surprise that Albee Directs Albee contains some of his most controversial, innovative work. All in all, the series includes an exciting cross-section of theatrical fare from the man Tennessee Williams called "America's greatest playwright."

If you can taste the difference in water, you can appreciate the difference in Finlandia.

Well Water Distilled Water

Vodka is a combination of neutral spirits and water. The water is added to bring the vodka to its final proof. And the water that goes into Finlandia Vodka is very different from the water in most other vodkas.

Others use distilled or microscopically filtered water.

Finlandia's water is 100% natural. It comes from a deep well that lies under a 10,000 year old glacial moraine formation in Rajamäki, Finland.

This delicious, natural water gives Finlandia a lively freshness all its own.

That's why people who know their vodka enjoy Finlandia to its fullest: in an exceptionally dry martini, on the rocks, or icy-cold straight from the freezer.

If you've never experienced vodka this way, try imported Finlandia.

You'll appreciate the difference.
