A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO THE AUDIENCE

Since its first San Francisco season in 1967, A.C.T. has provided free programs for its patrons in both the Geary and Marines' Memorial Theatres. This season, A.C.T. produced its own program as a result of the "for sale only" policy adopted by Performing Arts Magazine, which had provided Geary Theatre programs.

Beginning with the summer season of theatre and dance attractions, A.C.T. is pleased to announce that The Hagen Group, which has been publishing the San Francisco Ballet program for the past two years, will also be printing A.C.T.'s.

In addition to the economic advantage of publishing for two performing arts companies, this arrangement will provide A.C.T. greater assurance of continuing the free program service.

Potential advertisers are encouraged to contact The Hagen Group at (415) 929-7170.

"PEER GYNT" A TALE OF TWO LEGENDS

Joy Carlin & Daniel Davis

The legend of Peer Gynt, like the life of its creator Henrik Ibsen, is a soul-stirring search for wisdom.

The title character is based on the legendary life of a storyteller who lived in the mountainous rural region of Norway circa 1800. He was a local laughingstock for telling tall tales which always featured himself as the hero. The word "Gynt" means "boaster."

The stories Peer told were familiar to Norwegians as traditional folk-tales. Yet he became a part of that lore and was recorded in Norwegian Fairy Tales and Legends, which Ibsen had read.

In what he originally intended as a poem, Ibsen tried to capture the touch and quality of this folklore. He consequently declined to use classic verse and switched instead to rhyming couplets.

Director Allen Fletcher worked closely with the original rhyme scheme to get the legendary quality of the drama.

"The thing to remember," he explains, "is that Ibsen wanted it to sound like a fairy tale."

But it wasn't easy, for the complexity of the play evades simplistic translation. Fletcher says:

"The beginning of the play when Peer is a young man, living on a Norwegian farm in Gudsbrandsdal, is fairly realistic. But after he abducts the bride and has carried her off into the mountains, the whole atmosphere shifts into a fantastic world where trolls influence Peer's life. In the end he returns to where he began, in Gudsbrandsdal."

Francine Tacker & Daniel Davis

Ibsen had great purpose for his melange of styles and was consequently disturbed by the stir Peer Gynt caused when first produced in Norway in 1876, nine years after the play was written. It was viewed either as a satire of boasters or as a protest against selfishness. But the Norwegian playwright had written his drama as the journey of a man's soul, using legends to reflect the emotional and psychological states of Peer's life.

It was a life strikingly similar to Ibsen's own legendary career. He was born in March of 1828, the son of a highly successful merchant. But in 1835 severe financial reverses forced the family to sell its holdings and move to a farm on the outskirts of town, not unlike the poor farm of the Gynts.

Public disgrace drove Ibsen's father to drink and young Henrik—again like Peer—grew up dreaming of the time when he could leave the burden of family bitterness behind. Like his dramatic creation he was a wayward aloof fellow who began writing poems and stories as an outlet for his emotions.

At 15 Ibsen did leave home, to become an apothecary's apprentice where he dreamt about a career in medicine. Instead, he fathered an illegitimate child and continued writing poetry. At the age of 21 he completed his first play, Cataline, an historical drama.

His real introduction to the theater occurred in 1853 when he was hired as dramatist of the newly founded National Theater in Bergen, serving six years as stage manager and director.

Ibsen's growing interest in Norwegian folklore is evident in the poems he wrote at this time. He received a grant to spend part of 1862 on a walking tour through rural areas where he heard first about Peer.

But like Peer once again, Ibsen showed his feelings of inferiority through jealousy of the success of others. To prove his worth, he applied for a writer's pension. It was refused and he exiled himself for 27 years. During that period he wrote his greatest plays, however, including Peer Gynt.

Finally like the legendary Peer, Ibsen also made his peace with Norway. His homecoming in 1891 was a national holiday. He settled in Oslo where he died in 1906.

GOOD SEATS AVAILABLE FOR 'TRAVESTIES' HOLDOVER

One of the most popular shows in A.C.T.'s current repertory, Travesties will be held over after the company's scheduled May 28 1976-77 season closing. Tom Stoppard's rollicking comedy, directed by Nagle Jackson, will continue at the Geary for one week only May 31 through June 4.

Stoppard mixes history and fantasy in his dazzling parody of art and politics and the geniuses responsible for it all.

The play is based on a theatrical experience of an actual historical figure by the name of Henry Carr. A minor British consular official, he played Algernon Moncrieff in a 1918 production of The Importance of Being Ernest, which proved to be a major event in his otherwise colorless life.

Stoppard's comedy begins half a century later as Carr recalls—with considerable license—his fictional encounters with Lenin, novelist James Joyce and the dadaist Tristan Tzara.

Tickets are now on sale at A.C.T.'s Geary Theatre box office for the Travesties extended dates and all A.C.T. productions.

A NOTE ON 'EQUUS' by Peter Shaffer

One weekend over several years ago, I was driving with a friend through bleak countryside. We passed a stable. Suddenly he was reminded by it of an alarming crime which he had heard about recently at a dinner party in London. He knew only one horrible detail, and his complete mention of it could barely have lasted a minute—but it was enough to arouse in me an intense fascination.

The act had been committed several years before by a highly disturbed young man. It had deeply shocked a local bench of magistrates. It lacked, finally, any coherent explanation.

A few months later my friend died. I could not verify what he had said, or ask him to expand it.

He had given me no name, no place, and no time. I don't think he knew them. All I possessed was his report of a dreadful event, and the feeling it engendered in me. I knew very strongly that I wanted to interpret it in some entirely personal way. I had to create a mental world in which the deed could be made comprehensible.

Every person and incident in Equus is of my own invention, save the crime itself and even that I modified to accord with what I feel to be acceptable theatrical proportion. I am grateful now that I have never received confirmed details of the "real" story, since my concern has been more and more with a different kind of exploration.

I have been lucky, in doing final work on the play, to have enjoyed the advice and expert comment of a distinguished child psychiatrist. Through him I have tried to keep things real in a more naturalistic sense. I have also come to perceive that psychiatrists are an immensely varied breed, professing immensely varied methods and techniques. Martin Dysart is simply one doctor in one hospital. I must take responsibility for him, as I do for his patient.

Peter Shaffer's other works include Five Finger Exercise (1958), The Private Ear and The Public Eye (1962), The Royal Hunt of the Sun (1964), Black Comedy (1965) and The Battle of Shrivings (1970), which opened in London within weeks of his brother Anthony's Sleuth. The British playwright, who now resides in New York, has recently completed the screenplay for Equus, which is still running on Broadway.

A NOTE ON 'THE BOURGEOIS GENTLEMAN'

King Louis XIV of France was seeking as much an act of low vengeance as high comedy when he commissioned Moliere to write The Bourgeois Gentleman. In the play about a colossal fool who pretends to be a nobleman, the French monarch got both.

In the summer of 1670, an envoy of the Turkish Grand Sultan had arrived in Paris to discuss prisoner exchange with Louis. Instead of coming to an agreement, the pair managed to nearly come to blows, with the envoy walking out on his host.

Originally ruffled by the incident, Louis ultimately treated the matter as a joke and assigned Moliere to compose a musical entertainment to include some "funny bits of Turquerie." At the chateau of Chambord, Moliere's troupe first presented those results, The Bourgeois Gentleman.

"It's really the first musical comedy," explains William Ball who staged the classic. "Moliere fused three elements: the musical of the song and dance, the commedia that is almost vaudeville and the classicism of a perfectly balanced play."

So musical was The Bourgeois Gentleman originally that the Gazette de France critic called it "a ballet with six entrees, accompanied by a comedy which was prefaced by a marvelous concert, followed by a most delightful musical dialogue."

Through the passage of 300 years the play has come to be performed more for its comedy than its music. Nevertheless, the song and dance is invariably retained.

"The interlude, the dancing lesson, the dressing scene, the final "Mamamouchi" ceremony are all part of the action developing the celebration of a grand fool," Ball points out.

Though comedy is not usually symmetrical, Moliere managed with The Bourgeois Gentleman to create a play with classical proportions, with all the action taking place in one day of one general place, with a balance of speeches, jokes and even characters evident throughout the play.

Nowhere either in all of Moliere's writing is the commedia dell'arte acting style with its vigorous farce, instant improvisation, wit and pure physical exuberance more evident than in this play. Jokes, slapstick, puns and sightgags rapidly accumulate in this parody of a "nobleman."

The court, it is reported, received The Bourgeois Gentleman with far less than acclaim. But Louis savored his revenge on the Turks as he delightedly watched Moliere in the role of the Turkish "Mamamouchi" whirl grotesquely and finally tumble into a heap—all in order to join the rarified ranks of French nobility.

Alarmed by the courtiers' lack of enthusiasm, Moliere feared the play's premiere in Paris would be a disaster. But Louis convinced his court jester to go ahead with the opening. He did and Parisians cheered the play for 24 consecutive performances.

Those Parisians recognized, as have all succeeding generations, the grand musical and comic portrait of a man who will at all costs make a fool of himself.

A NOTE ON 'TRAVESTIES'

In Travesties, playwright Tom Stoppard juggles history and fiction to create an enigmatic and eloquent parody of modern man and his ideas.

The rollicking comedy unfolds through the highly suspect reminiscences of retired British diplomat Henry Carr, an elderly gentleman safely ensconced in his modern study as he struggles to recollect the events surrounding the part he played in a 1918 production of Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest. Carr took the role of Algernon Moncrieff in Wilde's turn-of-the-century comedy.

"In an otherwise ordinary life, Carr's participation in The Importance of Being Earnest was an extraordinary event," explains A.C.T. guest director Nagle Jackson who staged Travesties. "As Algernon Moncrieff he was at his most comfortable and most admired. So now, to put himself back into 1918, he chooses that disguise."

Carr, like Stoppard's other famous faceless characters, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern, is the common man observing uncommon events, but helpless to either understand or really participate in them.

Weaving in and out of his foggy memories are a trio of revolutionaries: the novelist James Joyce, the Bolshevik Vladimir Ilyich Lenin and the father of Dadaism Tristan Tzara, whose theories of anti-art presaged a revolt in non-establishment art forms such as surrealism. Throughout Travesties, the foursome incessantly and hilariously debate among themselves the meaning of art and revolution.

Travesties is all history—Stoppard-style that is. As he says about the play:

"Travesties is a work of fiction which makes use, and misuse, of history. Scenes which are self-evident documentary mingle with others which are just as evidently fantastical. People who were hardly aware of each other's existence are made to collide; real people and imaginary people are brought together without ceremony; and events which took place months, and even years, apart are presented as synchronous."

Travesties was first produced by the Royal Shakespeare Company at London's Aldwych Theatre in 1974. An immediate sensation, the company crossed the Atlantic to play on Broadway last season where again it was a hit.

It was hardly Stoppard's first triumph. At 40 he is England's most successful and exported playwright since John Osborne or Harold Pinter.

His first great success came in 1967 with Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, presented by A.C.T. for three seasons starting with the 1968-69 season. Subsequently he wrote the one-acts, The Real Inspector Hound and After Magritte, and the full length Jumpers, performed at A.C.T. during the 1974-75 season. He has also written a number of radio and television plays and has authored the novel, Lord Malquist and Mr. Moon.

"EQUUS" RETURNS IN MAY BY POPULAR DEMAND

Peter Shaffer's electrifying drama, Equus, a smash hit during A.C.T.'s 1975-76 season and in its revival edition last fall, returns by popular demand for three final performances. The award-winning play, directed by William Ball, returns to the Geary repertory for 8:30 curtain times on May 21, 25 and 28, the latter date representing the official close of the 1976-77 season.

The spine-tingling suspense of a mystery story and the terror of a psychological thriller unite to create a modern morality play as a psychiatrist delves for the truth about a teenager's heinous crime against a stable of horses he loves.

An unqualified success since its 1973 premiere, Equus played to standing room only for over two years in London.

Transported to Broadway, the play is now in its third year as a solid hit, selling out every performance as it has in London and San Francisco.

In 1975 Equus won the New York Drama Critics Circle and Tony Awards as Best Play of the Year.

The choice central role of the psychiatrist has lured numerous leading men. Alec McCowen originally played the part in London. The role was assumed in New York by Anthony Hopkins and later, Anthony Perkins.

A year ago Richard Burton returned to the stage for the first time in over a decade to play the psychiatrist. Following his Broadway performance, Burton took on the role in Sydney Lumet's upcoming film version of Equus.

In the spirit of true repertory for which A.C.T. is well-known, three members of the current acting company have been seen in the role of the psychiatrist, Peter Donat, Daniel Davis and Raye Birk, who will repeat the assignment for the May performances. Harry Hamlin returns as the troubled boy.

On-stage student seating will again be available in the limited number of bleacher seats comprising the rear of the set on a first-come-first-served basis 30 minutes prior to curtain time.

"RECITATIONS & COGITATIONS" BY & WITH PETER DONAT

As his contribution to the California Association for A.C.T.'s Annual Spring Fund Drive which is currently occupying whatever free time and extra energy the entire A.C.T. company has, Peter Donat will present a special "one-man show" at the Marines' Memorial Theatre on Sunday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Intriguingly titled Recitations and Cogitations, the first part of the presentation will include readings of poetry, plays and other selections. The second half is comprised of Anton Chekhov's extremely witty play for one actor, On the Harmfulness of Tobacco.

A featured performer with A.C.T. since its second San Francisco season, Donat will also conduct a question-and-answer discussion session with the audience after an intermission during which wine will be served.

Tickets are available for Recitations and Cogitations with Peter Donat at the Geary Theatre box office, which is open during intermission, or by calling or writing the California Association for A.C.T., 450 Geary St., San Francisco 94102, (415) 771-3880.

WILLIAM BALL (General Director) founded the American Conservatory Theatre in 1965. Beginning in the theatre as a designer, he soon turned to acting and appeared with regional companies and Shakespearean festivals across the country. Ball made his New York directorial debut with Chekhov's little-known Ivanov in an off-Broadway production that won the Obie and Vernon Rice Drama Desk Awards for 1958. The next few years found him directing at Houston's Alley Theatre, San Francisco's Actor's Workshop, Washington D.C.'s Arena Stage, San Diego's American Shakespeare Theatre, as well as staging several operas for the New York City Opera. His 1959 off-Broadway production of Under Milkwood won the Lola D'Annunzio and Outer Circle Critics' Awards. In 1962, his production of Six Characters in Search of an Author proved another multiple award-winner and enjoyed an extended run in New York. After directing at Canada's Stratford Festival, he returned to New York to write the libretto for an opera, Natalia Petrovna, with composer Lee Hoiby, based on A Month in the Country. In 1964, he directed Tartuffe and Homage to Shakespeare at Lincoln Center, then travelled to London to recreate his staging of Six Characters. A graduate of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, he has been the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship, a Ford Foundation directorial grant and an NBC-RCA Director's Fellowship. Among the first plays he directed for A.C.T. were Tartuffe, Six Characters, Under Milkwood, Tiny Alice and King Lear. They were followed by Twelfth Night, The American Dream, Hamlet, Oedipus Rex, Three Sisters, The Tempest, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, Caesar and Cleopatra, The Contractor, Cyrano de Bergerac, The Crucible, The Cherry Orchard, King Richard III, Jumpers and Equus. Ball is also an active teacher in A.C.T.'s conservatory programs and frequently works with university students as a guest instructor and seminar leader.

JAMES B. MCKENZIE (Executive Producer) has been associated with A.C.T. throughout its history as a member of the Board of Trustees. In 1969 he became Executive Producer, took the company on its first tour to Broadway, and has remained as producer ever since. McKenzie is an active participant in all phases of the theatre. He has produced three plays on Broadway, and 15 national tours of Broadway plays. He has been the producer of the Westport Country Playhouse in Connecticut since 1959 and of the Peninsula Players in Fish Creek, Wisconsin, since 1960. McKenzie is vice-president of the Council of Stock Theatres, a director of The League of Resident Theatres and of the Council of Resident Summer Theatres, and is an active member of The League of New York Theatres and Producers. He is a working member of the Association of Theatrical Press Agents and Managers, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Actors' Equity Association. His theatrical career encompasses more than 1,000 productions, and includes work in every state of the union. He was recently appointed to the Theatre Advisory Panel of the National Endowment for the Arts and is a Board member of the First American Congress of Theatre.

EDWARD HASTINGS (Executive Director and Resident Stage Director) was a Production Stage Manager for David Merrick before joining A.C.T. as a founding member. Off-Broadway, he co-produced The Saintliness of Margery Kempe, Epitaph for George Dillon and he directed the national touring company of Oliver! He has served as a guest director in colleges and regional theatres and for three summers as a resident director of the Eugene O'Neill Playwrights' Conference in Connecticut and of the Squaw Valley Community of Writers. Hastings' productions of Charley's Aunt and Our Town were seen during A.C.T.'s first two seasons. In New York, he guided the Henry Fonda revival of Our Town with an all-star cast and directed the Australian premiere of The HOT L BALTIMORE. He has directed many other A.C.T. productions, more recently, The House of Blue Leaves, Broadway, Street Scene and General Gorgous. He heads A.C.T.'s own new play program, Plays in Progress.

ALLEN FLETCHER (Resident Stage Director and Conservatory Director) is former artistic director of the Seattle Repertory Company. Among the many companies he has directed for are the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, the San Diego Shakespeare Festival, the New York City Opera and the APA. He spent four years at the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., two of these as resident director and director of the training program and two as artistic director. Fletcher has directed the A.C.T. productions of Uncle Vanya, Death of a Salesman, Arsenic and Old Lace, The Hostage, Antony and Cleopatra and Paradise Lost, as well as co-directed The Crucible, which entered the repertory at the Stanford Summer Festival in 1967. He also directed A.C.T.'s highly successful productions of Hadrian VII, The Latent Heterosexual, That Championship Season, The HOT L BALTIMORE, The Miser, The Ruling Class and Desire Under the Elms, which was one of the two plays selected to tour the Soviet Union last summer as part of the U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. Cultural Exchange Program. Fletcher has also translated and directed numerous Ibsen plays for A.C.T., including An Enemy of the People, A Doll's House, Pillars of the Community and Peer Gynt.

EDITH MARKSON (Development Director), a founder of A.C.T. in Pittsburgh, 1965, has served as vice president of the Board of Trustees ever since. She has been a leader in the resident theatre movement since its beginning. Mrs. Markson was a founder of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre and was responsible for bringing the APA Repertory Company there for a season. She also brought William Ball to that theatre, where he first directed Charley's Aunt and Six Characters in Search of an Author, as well as Allen Fletcher, where he first directed The Crucible. Mrs. Markson currently serves on the executive board of directors of The Theatre Communications Group of which she is vice president, and on the Theatre Advisory Panel of the National Endowment for the Arts, for which she is also a consultant. She has also been a theatre consultant to the Ford Foundation in its Program for the Arts and Humanities.

NAGLE JACKSON (Guest Director) completes his sixth season as Artistic Director of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre where this year he staged Death of a Salesman and Volpone. As a resident director at A.C.T. from 1967-70, he staged such works as Little Murders, Room Service and Little Malcolm and His Struggle Against the Eunuchs, returning in 1972 to direct The Mystery Cycle, which had originated in Milwaukee. After studying drama in Paris as a Fulbright Fellow, Jackson joined the Circle-in-the-Square Directors' Workshop in New York. A featured performer with the Julius Monk revues from 1963 to 1966, he spent eight summers with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival appearing in 22 productions, where he began his directing career with productions of Volpone, Pericles and Richard II. Jackson also frequently directs at the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts in Santa Maria where he staged Clark Gresner's The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall last summer.

LAIRD WILLIAMSON (Resident Stage Director) last season staged The Matchmaker, which also toured to Russia and Hawaii and An Evening With Tennessee Williams. For the Oregon Shakespearean Festival he directed Two Gentlemen of Verona, Titus Andronicus, Henry V, Love's Labours Lost, The Alchemist and Room Service, and at the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts, Cabaret, Hotel Paradiso and A Midsummer Night's Dream. He has also acted with all three companies and has been seen at A.C.T. in such productions as Cyrano de Bergerac, King Richard III and The Ruling Class. He also staged The Healers and Animals Are Passing From Our Lives as part of A.C.T.'s Plays in Progress program.

TOM MOORE (Guest Director), one of the youngest directors on Broadway, directed Over Here with the Andrews sisters for which he received a Tony nomination and Grease, now in its fifth year the longest running show on Broadway. Shortly after receiving an MFA from the Yale School of Drama, where he directed Funeral March for a One Man Band, he taught and directed at the University of London, and was a guest director at Brandeis University and the State University of New York, where he presented Oh What a Lovely War. Moore also directed at the American Place Theatre in New York and the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles. As artistic director of the Peterborough Players in New Hampshire, he directed You Can't Take It With You and The Hostage. In addition to directing the London and National Companies of Grease, he directed the critically acclaimed Welcome To Andromeda/Varity Obit off-Broadway. His film Journey won two major international film awards. Moore has lectured at the Seminar in America Studies in Salzburg, Austria, and recently directed Loot at the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, Once in a Lifetime at the Arena Stage in Washington, D.C., and Our Town at the Williamstown Theatre Festival in Massachusetts.
