It's Easier To Cut the Cord Than You Think

Here are three reasons to switch from cable TV to streaming.

1. You'll save money

Cutting the cord means you can save money by shedding that cable TV service. According to a recent survey by YouGov, the average household that cuts the cord saves $100 per month.

2. You don't have to give up your favorite programs

You may be worried that you'll lose access to your favorite shows and movies, but that's not the case. Many streaming services offer similar or even better content than traditional cable providers.

3. You'll have access to more shows and movies whenever you want them

Streaming services allow you to watch shows and movies on your own schedule. You can stop and start as many times as you like, and you can watch on any device that has the streaming service's app installed.
