3 Ways To Stay Connected When You Have Hearing Loss

Communication is key to maintaining your relationships (to CaptionCall [Product Name])

Keep getting out there

You don’t have to stay away from activities or social events, but you may want to find new ways to engage with others. Find opportunities to connect with people who share your interests or have similar experiences. You can also seek out new experiences and explore new places to make new friends.

Get out the pen

Writing letters and sending cards can be a way to keep in touch with loved ones, especially when you can’t see them in person. Consider sending handwritten notes or cards to friends, family, or community members who may enjoy receiving thoughtful messages.

Tap into technology

New ways of communicating have become more accessible than ever before. Social media, messaging apps, and video chat services provide opportunities for连接 when you may need them. Consider using these tools to keep in touch with loved ones and maintain connections.
