The 10 Fundamentals of Dog Care

1. Your life is going to change
   - If you are going to adopt a dog, you need to be prepared for this change. Your life is going to change for the better!

2. Your dog should have choices
   - Your home and your house rules are important. Your dog should have choices too. Also, your dog should have choices to make decisions.

3. Training is ongoing
   - Ongoing training is important. Your dog can learn new tricks and skills with ongoing training.

4. A crate is a good idea
   - A crate is a good idea for your dog. You can crate train your dog to be comfortable in a crate.

5. Socialization is key – and not just with other dogs
   - Socialization is key. You should take your dog to different places to socialize.

6. Your dog needs lots of exercise
   - Your dog needs exercise. A daily walk is important for your dog's health.

7. Be-persuasion about veterinary care
   - Be-persuasion about veterinary care. You should take your dog to the vet regularly.

8. You have to brush your dog’s teeth
   - You have to brush your dog’s teeth regularly. You can use brushing tools to clean your dog’s teeth.

9. Keep your dog at a lean, healthy weight
   - Keep your dog at a lean, healthy weight. Overweight dogs can have health issues.

10. Your dog needs good, real food
    - Your dog needs good, real food. Good food is important for your dog's health.

Click here to order smarter, healthier dog food from The Farmer's Dog, and get 30% off your first box!