HAAR is a circular tapestry covered with long-threaded natural flax fibres. It benefits the general acoustics as a sound-absorbing interior object. Due to its shape and surreal appearance, HAAR refers to a human head of hair hanging down. This sensory surface invites to play with it; touch it, comb it, braid it, smell it, ... A long and important Belgian tradition in both flax cultivation and the production of tapestries is brought together in a contemporary tactile object, an ever-changing wall ornament.	materials	HAAR is entirely made of flax and its derivatives. Hair - Flax fibers. The colour of the flax fibres varies according to the retting process. The resulting colours correspond with the natural human hair colour; from blond over brown to gray. Base - Linnen cloth - woven flax thread Frame - Round chipboard panel - made of flax straw and linseed fibers.
