IN ATLANTA

Africa is closer than you think
Spend an evening transported to Kenya and Tanzania through world-class photography.

Iconic Africa would like to invite you to a special exhibition of stunning wildlife photographs from Kenya’s newest photographic competition, The Greatest Masai Mara Photographer of the Year. The aim of the competition is to raise funds for conservation in Kenya’s famed Masai Mara ecosystem.
Angama Mara is founded on the deeply embedded principle of running a profitable business in order to make a meaningful and sustainable difference to the communities that neighbour the lodge, and the wildlife and land that surround it. The Angama team believes in Benjamin Franklin’s oft-quoted saying: ‘Doing Well, by Doing Good/Doing Good, by Doing Well’. This has been a philosophy successfully adhered to and implemented by owners Steve and Nicky Fitzgerald over the past 20 years. The Foundation works first and foremost with the Mara Conservancy to ensure the longevity of the Mara Triangle, although it may play a broader role within the greater Mara-Serengeti ecosystem once the sustainability of the Triangle has been assured. The first two fields of co-operation that have been identified are livestock predation compensation and rhino monitoring, and discussions are underway as to how best to affect this support, complemented by ongoing education initiatives in the community.

Every morning in Africa, a gazelle wakes up. It knows it must run faster than the fastest lion or it will be killed. Every morning a lion wakes up. It knows it must outrun the slowest gazelle or it will starve to death. It doesn’t matter whether you are a lion or a gazelle: when the sun comes up, you’d better be running.
It is better to be a lion for a day
than a sheep all your life
