

QUESTION

Which of the following is a characteristic of a good research question?

It is broad and general.

It is specific and focused.

It is easy to answer.

Correct

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

Incorrect

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

Correct

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.

A good research question is specific and focused, allowing for a clear and concise answer.