KOMATSU OIL & WEAR ANALYSIS (KOWA)

Purpose
Analysing engine oil and other fluids is the best way to look inside a machine's engine and power-train. It can help you identify trends and make repair and maintenance decisions.

Much like a blood test tells your doctor how your body is functioning, this analysis lets you see how your equipment is performing on the inside. Used with Pm Clinics, Pm Tune Ups and Maintenance Contracts, this oil analysis is your best defence for proactively maintaining your equipment. Our Analysis program detects fuel dilution and coolant leaks, identifies contaminants and measures wear-metals. Komatsu will help you interpret this information so you can identify potential problems and head them off before they lead to major repairs.

Your samples are analysed and results available within 48 to 72 hours from date of receipt at the laboratory. Just having a hard copy KOWA report alerting you to a potential problem may not be enough. The KOWA website manages and stores all of your KOWA history data and provides complete technical reports.

KOWA Benefits

- Results compared to Komatsu guidelines to eliminate guesswork
- The KOWA website tracks equipment trends for long-term repair and maintenance.
- Sharing of information between Komatsu and the Distributor to provide comprehensive recommendations.
- KOWA Online at www.komatsu-kowa.com

What do you need to get started?

1. Order a sampling set from KEPO. Each sampling set contains:
 - Welcome letter (including instructions)
 - 20 plastic bottles
 - 5 meter of plastic tube (1 pump)
 - 1 Customer Registration form (Form A)
 - 10 Equipment Registration form (Form B)
 - 2 sample books (Form C)
 - 6 pre-labelled envelopes
 - Postcard - 1 set each for 10 visits

KOMATSU OIL & WEAR ANALYSIS (KOWA)

Purpose
Analysing engine oil and other fluids is the best way to look inside a machine's engine and power-train. It can help you identify trends and make repair and maintenance decisions.

Much like a blood test tells your doctor how your body is functioning, this analysis lets you see how your equipment is performing on the inside. Used with Pm Clinics, Pm Tune Ups and Maintenance Contracts, this oil analysis is your best defence for proactively maintaining your equipment. Our Analysis program detects fuel dilution and coolant leaks, identifies contaminants and measures wear-metals. Komatsu will help you interpret this information so you can identify potential problems and head them off before they lead to major repairs.

Your samples are analysed and results available within 48 to 72 hours from date of receipt at the laboratory. Just having a hard copy KOWA report alerting you to a potential problem may not be enough. The KOWA website manages and stores all of your KOWA history data and provides complete technical reports.

KOWA Benefits

- Results compared to Komatsu guidelines to eliminate guesswork
- The KOWA website tracks equipment trends for long-term repair and maintenance.
- Sharing of information between Komatsu and the Distributor to provide comprehensive recommendations.
- KOWA Online at www.komatsu-kowa.com

What do you need to get started?

1. Order a sampling set from KEPO. Each sampling set contains:
 - Welcome letter (including instructions)
 - 20 plastic bottles
 - 5 meter of plastic tube (1 pump)
 - 1 Customer Registration form (Form A)
 - 10 Equipment Registration form (Form B)
 - 2 sample books (Form C)
 - 6 pre-labelled envelopes
