

Exercise C3.2: Cases of nouns and adjectives

Identify the case, gender and number of the nouns and adjectives in purple below and translate them into Latin.

Remember that

- the adjective ending will depend on the declension(s) the adjective is in, and the case, gender and number of the noun it describes.
- within a declension, there are different endings for neuter nouns.
- if the noun follows a preposition, it will need to be in the case required by that preposition.

e.g. We feared the savage horses.      accusative masculine pl      equōs

1. The land was great.
2. The danger was great.
3. We caught sight of the mountains.
4. We climbed a mountain.
5. The horses fought in the war.
6. You remained near the great sea.
7. They were throwing many arrows.
8. He caught sight of the body.
9. She took the huge sword.
10. The angry gods went into the sky.
