

Exercise C7.1: Choosing pronouns: is, hic, ille, quī, quis

Translate each of the pronouns in purple into Latin.

1. The master greeted him in the garden.
2. That woman used to walk to the forum with a few slaves.
3. The river was deep. The citizens were afraid to go across it.
4. Because the master loved his slaves, he freed them.
5. Those masters, both cruel and savage, will never free these slaves.
6. Although they are sad, these slaves never cry.
7. Their fathers greeted the new senators.
8. That man is both bold and brave, although he killed few men in war.
9. Which citizens will greet the senator while he walks in the forum?
10. The slave whom the master praises is walking into the garden.
11. To whom will you give all these gifts, master?
12. Whose is this garden, which is both beautiful and large?