

I would like to tell young kids who might read this, that drinking and handing with the wrong people will get you where I am sitting right here and I hope that nobody else ever has to go through what i have gone through, expecially young kids.
I'm sorry for any hurt and pain they say I caused. I have no hard feelings toward anyone.
I just want my sister, my brother-in-law, my son, all of my family and friends to know that I love them and I'll be waiting on them in heaven.
