

I told the truth about what happened. I would like it to be a remembrance for Louisiana and the whole country that would be a deterrence against capital punishment and show that capital punishment is no good and never has been good. I would like all the people who have fought capital punishment to keep on fighting--not just for me but for everybody.