

Student Activities

Activity 1

Create a chapter-by-chapter summary of the set text, including the chapters of Book XIII, which are set to be read in English. This activity is designed to help you to learn the sequence of events and identify the appearances of key characters. Two have been filled in for you as a suggestion of the level of detail required. This should become a helpful revision tool.

Activity 2

Hold a debate in your class: This House believes that Nero was right to have Agrippina murdered. Each side of the debate should prepare a convincing argument, drawing directly on Tacitus and potentially other Classical sources, and then be prepared to rebut the arguments of their opposition.
