Find out more

Start exploring today at:
www.citethemrightonline.com

See our full range of digital learning resources:
www.bloomsburydigitalresources.com

About Cite them Right

Cite them Right is an online referencing resource that will help your students reference correctly and avoid plagiarism. It comprises two parts. An 11 section interactive tutorial instils the principles of referencing and avoiding plagiarism. This accompanies a reference builder that covers over 250 source types in seven of the main referencing styles.

How Cite them Right will support your students

Cite them Right teaches students the principles of referencing and avoiding plagiarism, and then helps them to consistently build accurate references for the style and sources relevant for their course.

Your students might wish to begin with the referencing tutorial, starting at section one, or dipping in and out of the 11 sections according to their knowledge gaps. On the website, they can further their understanding by reading articles and watching videos on referencing basics, and use the reference builder to create their own accurate references.

Benefits for you and your colleagues

Ensures all students are taught and adhere to the same referencing standard

Encourages students to identify and correct their own referencing mistakes

Offers an interactive tutorial that can be incorporated into a skills workshop or set as homework

Supports students in developing their academic integrity

Your access options:

Institution Single Sign On

Single Sign On allows students to access the resource using their current college/university account details.

- No additional usernames/passwords for your students to remember.
- Provides access on and off campus.
- One-time registration is required the first time students access the referencing tutorial.

IP Range

IP access allows users to use the service on a device that is connected to a specified local network. (e.g. the institution's campus Wi-Fi network).

- Users are not required to login if the device is within the specified local network.
- Users outside of the specified local network will not be able to gain access to the service.
- Users are required to create a personal username and password for the referencing tutorial in order to save progress. They are required to login each time they access the tutorial.

Referrer URL:

Users can access the service by clicking on a specific URL link that we provide.

- Users are not required to login if they access the service by clicking the referrer url.
- The link will only work if hosted within a specified institution domain.
- One-time registration is required the first time students access the referencing tutorial.
- The referrer URL link must be placed in a password protected environment.

Need help or support?

Please contact your Account Manager, or email us at OnlineSalesUK@bloomsbury.com