

5 Year Plan

Use your planning worksheet as a starting point to filling in your 5 year plan. You will likely need to add additional details and make revisions. When you come to a point in your plan where you don't know what to do or when there is a step that you don't have complete control over, you should plan for an alternative. For example, what will you do if you don't get an internship or job at the time you have in your plan? What is your secondary plan? How do you step off of the main plan and then step back on? If you are planning to go to grad school, what if the program you are really interested in isn't recruiting the year you want to apply? What is your alternative plan for that time period? You only need to put details into the secondary and tertiary plans at the specific points where you have alternative plans. No need to develop completely different secondary and tertiary plans. You don't need two or three completely different scenarios, you just need to consider your alternatives at major intersections in your plan.
