

Prepositional Phrase Game

Each player rolls the dice and moves forward the number of squares shown by the number on the dice. If a player lands on a square with a prepositional phrase, they need come up with a sentence which uses the phrase. If a player lands on a square with a snake, they have to go down the snake to the square shown by the snake's tail. If a player lands at the bottom of a ladder, they can go up the ladder to the square shown by the top of the ladder. The first player to the end wins.

END	under her cap					beside the shop		in the front row by the hour		on the top		across the street without a sound				during the film				through the front door from the past
from her dad					behind the net into the room
between lessons				with a sharp arrow	on top of the world under the sea							with a cane
START		under the table		with joy			in the middle of the night	