

BLOOMSBURY DRESS AND COSTUME LIBRARY

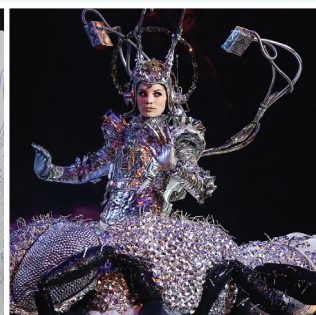

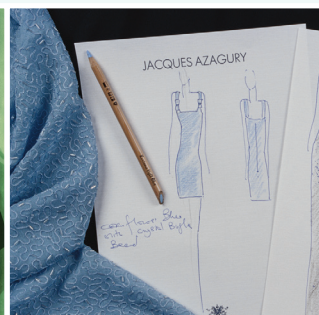

GLOBAL HISTORY AND PRACTICE: MADE TO MEASURE FOR COURSES.

The Bloomsbury Dress and Costume Library is the first comprehensive digital collection for the study of dress and costume history, design, and making. It is available as part of the Bloomsbury Fashion Central platform.

CONTENT HIGHLIGHTS

- A collection of 80+ authoritative books to enrich research — including the Focal Press Costume Topics series, exploring practical costume-making techniques.
- Norah Waugh's field-defining works, The Cut of Men's Clothes and The Cut of Women's Clothes
- Object study videos analysing key garments in detail, produced exclusively in collaboration with the Fashion Archives and Museum of Shippensburg University.
- Reference content from ABC-CLIO, such as The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Clothing through World History, that allows users to explore dress and costume across global cultures and throughout history.
- A new and exclusive reference work, The Encyclopedia of Film and Television Costume, edited by Deborah Nadoolman Landis, renowned costume designer.
- Exclusive contextual articles written by leading dress historian Valerie Cumming to enhance understanding of the historiography of dress history.
- Reference titles from the classic Fashions In series by Richard Corson, covering 'Hair', 'Make-Up' and 'Eyeglasses'.
- A visual historical timeline, tracking key silhouettes, garments, styles and elements of dress.
- Over 800 images from our prestigious partner, the Victoria and Albert Museum, London, covering musical theater, dance, period costume, theatrical drawings and more.
- 13 articles in the Recreative Reflections mini-collection, edited by Serena Dyer and Sarah A. Bendall. This series articulates and communicates recreative practice approaches to dress and textile history.
