Constellium received ‘Accredited Supplier’ award from Airbus

Paris, April 17, 2024 – Constellium announced today that its Issoire facility, in France, received the ‘Accredited Supplier’ award from Airbus, the highest recognition in the Airbus Supply Chain & Quality Improvement (SQIP) program.

It is the first time Constellium has received this award, granted for outstanding performance in product quality and delivery, improvement projects, continuous adaptation to production ramp-up, and strong industrial maturity.

“Being recognized by Airbus is an immense honor, as our team continuously strives to exceed customer expectations. This award is a testament to our long-standing relationship with Airbus and our dedication to providing the best operational and sustainability performance, along with excellent customer service,” commented Philippe Hoffmann, President of the Aerospace and Transportation business unit at Constellium. “We are eager to maintain best-in-class performance and to continue to develop our privileged relationship even further.”

Constellium supplies advanced aerospace solutions, including its proprietary aluminium-lithium alloy solution Airware®, for all leading aircraft programs at Airbus from its facilities in Issoire and Montreuil-Juigné in France, and Ravenswood, West Virginia, USA. Together, these three plants form an integrated industrial platform with unique aerospace capabilities.
