WHY Help shape this new space in your backyard so that you can use it in the years to come.

About the Lowline: The Lowline seeks to transform an unused underground public space into a community-oriented hub, and we're continuing a community engagement process to find out what local residents want to see in this unique place. The Lowline will use innovative solar technology to bring natural light underground - providing an exciting opportunity to build a green space that's accessible year round, and will include programming and activities.
