Dear Friend,

Welcome to this edition of Defining Moments, where we celebrate the many ways that giving from the heart transforms healthcare – and lives – in the Northwoods.

Giving takes many forms and each act of generosity plays a vital role in strengthening our community. Inside these pages, you'll find inspiring stories of donors, volunteers, and friends who embody the spirit of heartfelt giving. You'll also find an update from our hospitals, showing the incredible impact your support has made over the past year.

One of the highlights is the continued vision for expanding cardiac care at Howard Young Medical Center. What started as our donors' support in the creation of the Cardiology Suite at HYMC and purchase of the echocardiogram machine (see Page 5), continues as Aspirus plans to become the place to go in the Northwoods for non-invasive cardiac care. This will allow more patients to receive treatment close to home, reducing the need for distant travel and keeping families together during challenging times. Watch for more to come.

Every gift helps us move closer to a healthier future for all. We are grateful to each of you for giving from the heart and for being a part of this journey with us.

Thank you for making a difference.

YOU Brought Heart Care Closer to Home

Thanks to the incredible generosity of our donors, Howard Young Medical Center (HYMC) now has a state-of-the-art echocardiogram machine—bringing this essential diagnostic tool to the heart of the Northwoods.

When it comes to diagnosing heart conditions, an echocardiogram is often the very first test a cardiologist orders. This non-invasive ultrasound provides a detailed view of the heart's structure, function, and blood flow—offering vital insight that helps guide treatment plans for patients with heart failure, coronary artery disease, arrhythmias, and more.

This new equipment will make a meaningful impact, as demand for cardiac care services continues to rise at HYMC and Aspirus Eagle River Hospital. The echocardiogram will soon be used five days a week, supporting inpatient and outpatient services. Patients no longer need to travel long distances for routine heart diagnostics—they can stay right here, close to family and community.

This achievement is just the beginning. HYMC has set the goal of becoming the place to go for high level cardiac care, and the echocardiogram machine is a critical step forward.

To every donor who helped make this possible—thank you. Your gift isn't just a piece of equipment. It's faster answers. It's peace of mind. And it's better care, closer to home.

“We want to build on the outstanding culture we have here—a culture of excellence—and offer consistent, high-quality cardiology services locally. The echocardiogram machine is the first step to making that happen.”

A YEAR OF GROWTH AND GRATITUDE:

How Your Support is Transforming Care

Growing to Meet Our Community's Needs
Howard Young Foundation (HYF): Can you share how Howard Young Medical Center (HYMC) and Aspirus Eagle River Hospital have grown over the past year?

Teri: It's been an incredible year of growth for both HYMC and Eagle River. We've seen expansion in primary care (in both locations), intensive care, and cardiac care. We thank our patients who have found a home in our primary care practice, we are continuing to add new providers to keep up with the demand. Thanks to HYF donors, we've brought in state-of-the-art technology, like a new echocardiogram machine, which is already making a difference in diagnosing and treating patients. We're also grateful for our dedicated staff and growing team of providers who ensure patients receive the care they need, close to home.

Reputation for Excellence in the Northwoods

HYF: What are HYMC and Aspirus Eagle River Hospital known for in the Aspirus Health system?

Teri: HYMC is known for delivering high-acuity care. We receive the most patient referrals in the Aspirus system outside of Wausau and have more than doubled our inpatient numbers over the past three years. With a strong team in Emergency, ICU, and hospitalist medicine, HYMC continues to be a trusted resource for complex care.

Eagle River is a hidden gem. The Emergency Department is staffed by board-certified physicians, and the clinic offers excellent primary care. The swing bed program is especially impactful—it supports patients recovering from illness or surgery and helps open beds at larger hospitals. Patients receive compassionate, personalized care during shorter stays or rehabilitation.

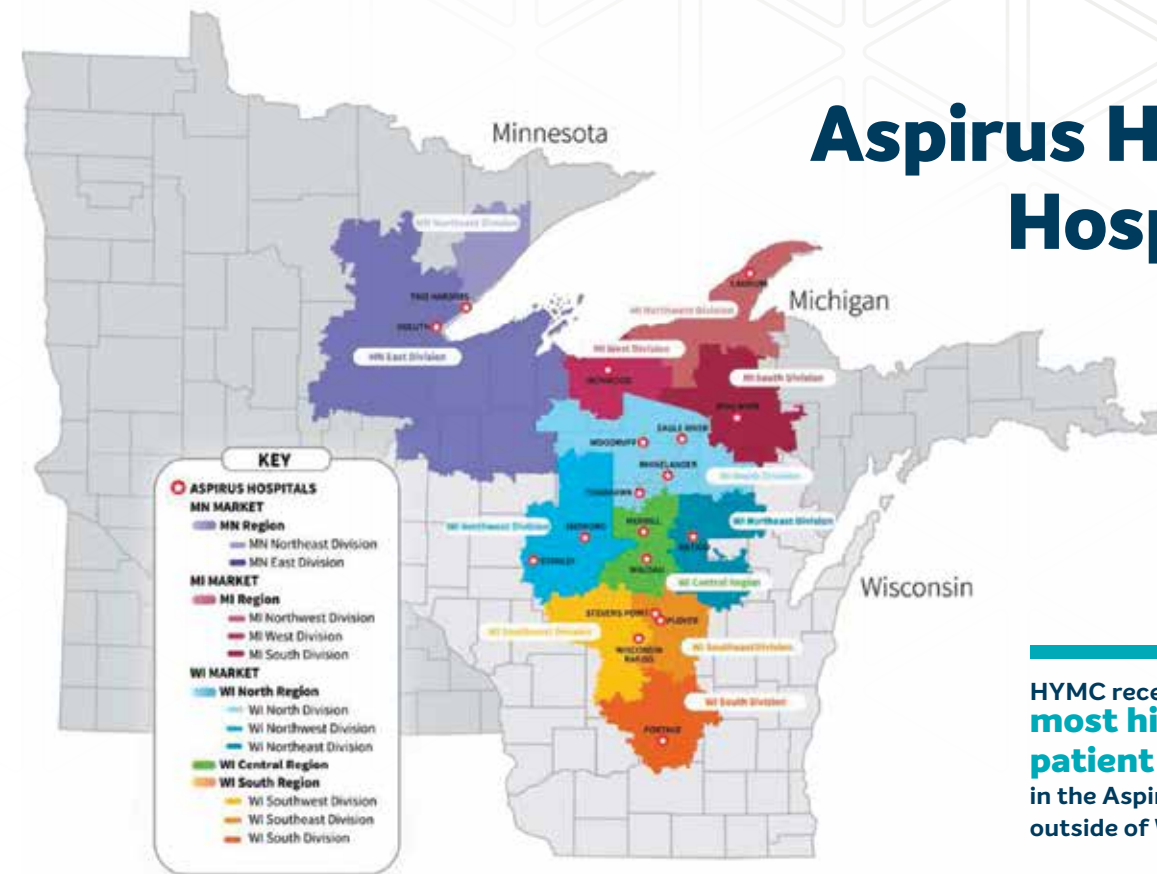

Looking Ahead: Expanding Services and Access

HYF: What does the future look like for HYMC and Aspirus Eagle River Hospital?

Teri: HYMC will remain a leader in high-quality care, focused on emergency medicine, primary care, high acuity care and several supporting services like Rehabilitation and the Aspirus Tick-Borne Illness Center. We're excited to welcome an orthopedic surgeon this summer, who will be performing surgery at HYMC, and we're expanding cardiac care that doesn't require a surgical intervention through telehealth. This allows patients to stay close to home, when possible, while still ensuring access to advanced care when needed at larger centers like Wausau or Duluth.

In Eagle River, we are consolidating our primary and specialty clinics into the hospital, creating a one-stop experience for patients. This means they can see their provider, receive lab work, and access imaging all in one place. It's a model that's been successful at HYMC, and we're excited to bring it to Eagle River.

Teri Theiler,
 President, North
 Wisconsin Region,
 Aspirus Health

HYMC receives the most high-acuity patient transfers in the Aspirus system outside of Wausau

Care Close to Home, with a Continuum of Support

HYF: How will you utilize the addition of Aspirus St. Luke's in Duluth?

Teri: Our priority is always to keep care close to home. But when patients need specialized treatment, they'll have a smooth transition to other Aspirus facilities like Duluth, Wausau, or Rhinelander. Thanks to HYF's support, we have strong ground and air transport teams to make these transitions safe and timely.

Meeting Challenges with Philanthropy

HYF: What has been the financial impact on our hospitals from declining reimbursements?

Teri: Like many rural hospitals, we've faced financial challenges due to lower reimbursements and rising costs. Food, supplies, and staffing expenses continue to increase. That's why philanthropy is so important—Foundation support allows us to invest in the tools, technology, and people needed to continue delivering exceptional care despite these pressures.

HYF: How can HYF and our donors continue to help ensure that we have the best possible healthcare in the Northwoods?

Teri: Every new service presents an opportunity to partner with the Foundation to enhance our care. Donor support has helped us acquire advanced monitoring equipment that integrates seamlessly with electronic health records, giving providers more time for hands-on, compassionate care. Your generosity—whether supporting state-of-the-art equipment, expansion and renovation, education, or enhanced patient services by investing in our people—makes a real and lasting difference.

Thank you to all of our donors. As we look to the future, your continued support ensures we can keep growing, innovating, and providing the very best care for our Northwoods community.

THE GIFT OF HEALING

Todd's Story of Local Care and Life-Saving Compassion

When Todd brought his wife to Howard Young Medical Center (HYMC), he never imagined he'd end up needing care himself. But the nurse caring for his wife, Sue Ohlsson, RN, noticed something wasn't right. Todd seemed unusually restless and short of breath. Trusting her instincts, Sue gently asked him a few questions—and quickly realized he needed to be seen.

Despite his reluctance, Sue urged Todd to visit the Emergency Department (ED) for an evaluation. That decision may have saved his life.

His blood pressure was dangerously high, and he later learned that his body was so full of fluid, his heart couldn't beat effectively. He was slipping in and out of atrial fibrillation—a life-threatening condition. "At that point I had not slept for a week. I even tried to sleep standing up," Todd admitted. "I couldn't breathe when I laid down."

Todd was quickly cared for by the ED team, including Dr. Richards and Jessie Heise, RN. He has special praise for "the tech who did the ultrasound in ER"—a critical part of his diagnosis and care. That very ultrasound machine was made possible thanks to the generosity of donors like you.

Todd now credits the team at HYMC with saving his life. "Without Sue, I would not have made it to the end of the week. She is an angel on my shoulder."

His story is a powerful reminder of why it's essential to invest in small, rural hospitals. Thanks to donor-funded equipment and dedicated staff, advanced heart care is available right here in our community—no long drives, no delays, just compassionate, expert care when it's needed most.

When you give from the heart, you help save hearts—just like Todd's.

Make a gift to the Howard Young Foundation one of your meaningful moments. Give today at howardyoungfoundation.org.

HEALING HANDS, GIVING HEARTS: Making a Difference

Great care starts with great people. For 33 years, Sue Ohlsson has been a compassionate and steady presence at Howard Young Medical Center, where she has cared for patients with unmatched skill and heart. As a nurse, she's known not only for her clinical expertise, but also for the warmth and kindness she brings to every bedside. But Sue's dedication doesn't stop when her shift ends.

Since 2004, Sue has been a proud supporter of the Howard Young Foundation through the employee giving program. Her consistent generosity is a powerful reflection of her belief in the mission of the hospital and the Foundation's role in advancing it.

Whether she's comforting a patient or championing the Foundation's work in the community, Sue is an extraordinary ambassador. Her giving is not just financial—it's personal. "I give because I believe in what we're doing here," Sue shares. "Every dollar helps us care for our patients better, and that's what matters most."

Sue's story is a reminder that true giving comes from the heart. Through her years of service and continued support, she inspires others to believe in the power of compassion and the impact of giving back. We are grateful for her unwavering commitment and generous spirit.

Employees can make a difference by calling 715-439-4005 to enroll in the Employee Giving Program.

THE GIFT OF TIME:

Volunteering From the Heart

In an era when healthcare can feel rushed, our volunteers bring humanity to the forefront. They're our neighbors, our friends, our family. They make our hospitals feel like home.”

At Howard Young Medical Center and Aspirus Eagle River Hospital, volunteers are essential members of the care team. They offer directions to visitors who look a bit lost, provide a friendly face at the information desk, and manage the hospital gift shops and thrift shop with care. But their contributions go far beyond logistics. They deliver flowers and packages to patient rooms, transport patients from one department to another, support clerical work, and even provide companionship to those who might otherwise spend the day alone.

“In every corner of our hospitals, you'll find a volunteer making a quiet difference,” says Leila Martinez,

Volunteer Coordinator at HYMC. “They step in with a smile, lend a listening ear, and offer their time simply because they care. They are the heart of our hospital community.”

It's not just what volunteers do—it's how they do it. They often form meaningful relationships with patients and staff, offering comfort during anxious moments or celebrating a good prognosis with a heartfelt high-five. Some have walked the halls for years, while others are just starting their journey of service. All are united by a common thread: a desire to give back.

Volunteers come from all walks of life: retirees, students, working professionals, and even former patients who want to give back. Some serve once a week, while others volunteer once a month. What they share is a commitment to making someone's day a little brighter, one moment at a time.

Amanda Martinson, Volunteer Coordinator at Aspirus Eagle River Hospital reflects that, “In an era when healthcare can feel rushed, our volunteers bring humanity to the forefront. They're our neighbors, our friends, our family. They make our hospitals feel like home.”

HYMC VOLUNTEER

Jean Allen

For Jean Allen, giving from the heart has always meant giving her time, her talents, and her kindness to others.

A retired teacher of 35 years, Jean has been a beloved volunteer at Howard Young Medical Center since 1990. Starting as a runner and later greeting countless patients and visitors from the Monticello entrance, Jean's welcoming smile has been a beacon of comfort for more than three decades.

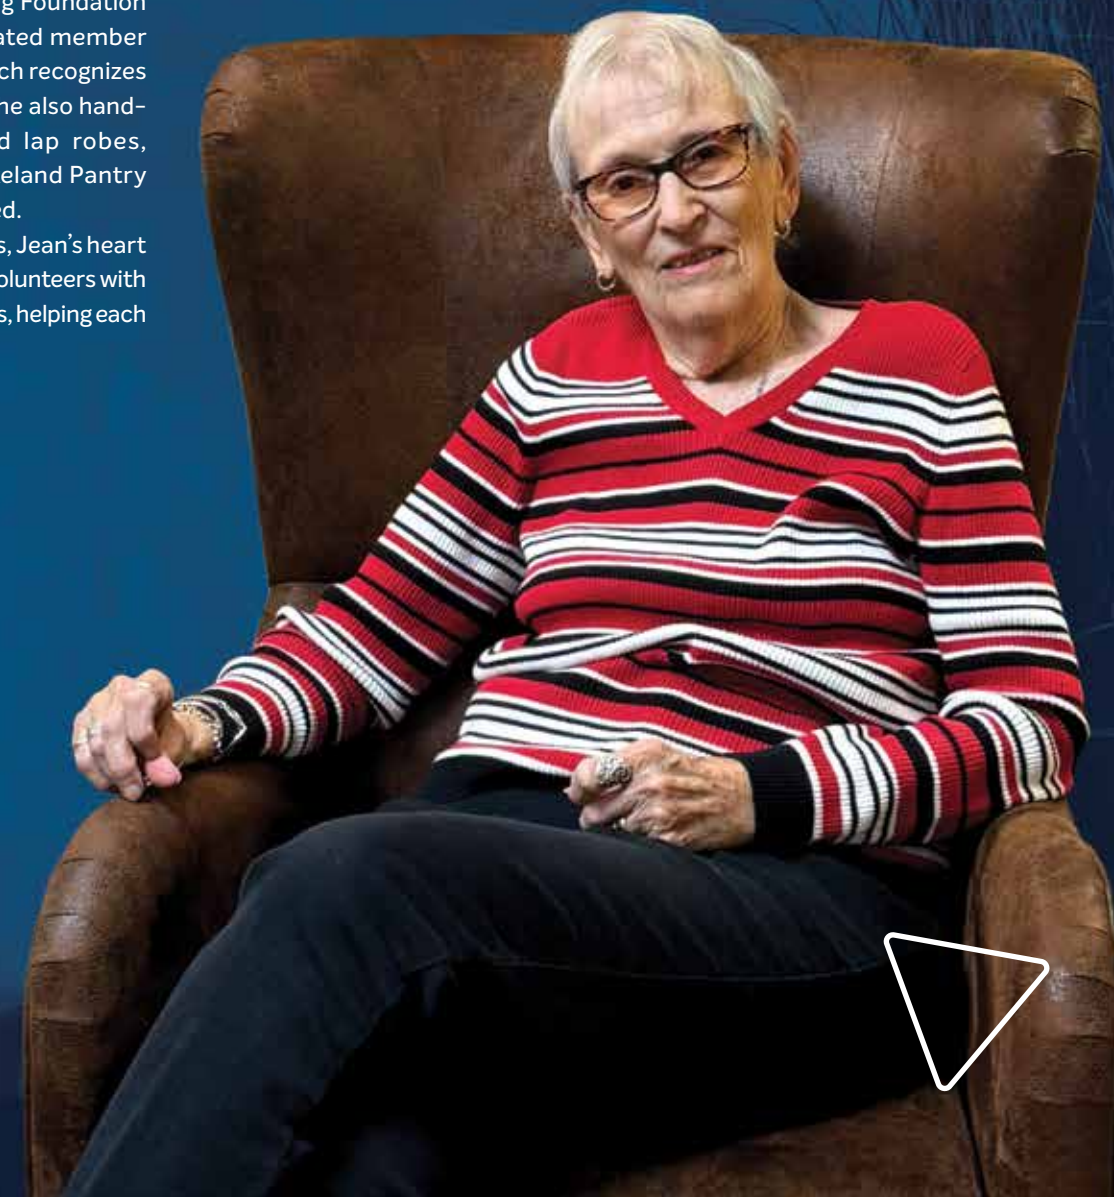

Jean's spirit of generosity doesn't stop at volunteering. She has been a proud donor to the Howard Young Foundation since 2007 and is a dedicated member of the Bonhomie Club, which recognizes annual giving. Each year, she also hand-knits scarves, hats, and lap robes, donating them to the Lakeland Pantry to help local families in need.

Beyond the hospital walls, Jean's heart for service continues. She volunteers with the St. Germain Primetimers, helping each year at the Minocqua Dragon Boat Festival. She is also a Friend of Lakeland Pantry.

Jean's example reminds us that giving from the heart can take many forms: a warm greeting, a helping hand, a homemade gift, or steadfast financial support. Her life's work, both inside and outside the hospital, radiates kindness and community spirit.

We are deeply grateful to Jean Allen for the many ways she gives from her heart and for inspiring all of us to do the same.

THE GIFT OF SERVICE:

Honoring Decades of Dedication to Lakeland Pantry

The years of dedication and service that John and Pam have given to the Lakeland Pantry are truly extraordinary. It's rare to find individuals who give so much of themselves for the good of others, and their impact on our community is exceptional.”

— TRIG SOLBERG,
HYF Board Chairman

For nearly two decades, John and Pam Winkelman have been the heart and soul of the Lakeland Pantry, guiding it from a small operation in a gymnasium to a thriving community resource. As they step into a well-earned retirement from the Board of Directors, the impact of their leadership is clear—both in the lasting improvements they've made and in the thousands of lives they've touched.

John and Pam first joined the Pantry in 2006, when resources were scarce, and the need for community support was growing. Over the years, their tireless efforts helped transform the Pantry into an organization that now serves over 21,000 individuals annually. Under their leadership, the Pantry expanded its services, allowing families to select their own food, access clothing and books, and even receive basic medical screenings. John and Pam built invaluable relationships with the Pantry's donors creating a strong connection between the Pantry and the community. Together, they helped grow the Pantry's funds from just $10,000 to nearly $2 million, securing its future for years to come while simultaneously highlighting the ongoing need for donations.

The Winkelmans were also instrumental in a building expansion that included a much-needed freezer for additional food storage, as well as in organizing fundraising events such as the Bear Cupboard Run and Wine, Women, and Winter. In addition, they played a key role in building a strong and passionate Board of Directors, ensuring that the Pantry's mission continues to thrive.

As these remarkable individuals step away from their leadership roles, they do so with confidence in the dedicated team that will carry their vision forward. Their legacy of service and compassion will continue to inspire the Pantry's work, ensuring that “Neighbors Helping Neighbors” remains more than just a motto—it's a commitment to the community that will endure for years to come.

The Lakeland Pantry is a part of the Howard Young Foundation. Honor their legacy of service by making a gift to the Lakeland Pantry in their honor at howardyoungfoundation.org.

A Gift that Amplifies Every Voice

Donors are bringing immersive speech and language therapy to Northwoods elementary schools including MHLT, AVW, Lac du Flambeau and North Lakeland.

In a world where communication is key, the ability to express oneself is nothing short of life changing. Thanks to a generous gift made possible by our donors, Lakeland STAR School/Academy is expanding its already innovative speech therapy program—bringing even more meaningful support to students and creating a ripple effect throughout our community.

Speech-language pathologists (SLPs) play a vital role in schools, helping students overcome challenges related to language, articulation, fluency, and voice. At Lakeland STAR, however, this support goes far beyond the typical model. Here, speech therapy is woven directly into the classroom experience. Rather than pulling students out of class for separate sessions, the SLP is embedded in the day-to-day environment—observing real-time communication challenges and responding with immediate, individualized strategies.

“This immersive model has allowed our students to flourish in ways that are truly inspiring,” says Rachel Wilson, STAR’s dedicated speech therapist. “I’ve seen students who once struggled to express their needs now confidently speak at public events, order meals on their own, and even complete job interviews.”

Lakeland STAR serves students in grades 6-12, however, research suggests that the earlier students can receive speech interventions, the more success they will have. The gift from our donors is making it possible to bring the Lakeland STAR model to more students by expanding the team to include additional SLPs in elementary schools across the Northwoods. This means earlier interventions, more tailored support, and greater collaboration with teachers and staff—ultimately creating a culture where all students, regardless of ability, have the tools to communicate and thrive.

deserves a voice—spoken, signed, or supported through alternative methods. This gift supports that mission in the most profound way.”

The impact of this generosity extends well beyond the classroom walls. Confident communicators grow into empowered community members—ready to contribute, connect, and lead. As Rachel beautifully puts it, “When students learn how to express themselves, they gain independence and autonomy. That changes everything—not just for them, but for all of us.”

To the donors who made this possible: thank you for giving from the heart. You are helping voices be heard—and lives be changed.

“Every student learns in their own unique way. It is our responsibility—as therapists, educators, parents, and as a community—to meet each child where they are and implement tailored strategies that foster their growth and development.”

The Power of Philanthropy

The support of friends like you helps the Howard Young Foundation bring state-of-the-art care to Northwoods residents and visitors, support innovation and research, and strengthen our community through health and wellness. Your gift to the Foundation has the power to change the way we view healthcare at our rural hospitals – one patient at a time. Philanthropy or charitable giving plays a big part in healthcare all over the United States, but it’s even more important in small communities like ours.

CUMULATIVE GIVING

It is with deep appreciation that we recognize and honor those listed here for their generous and caring cumulative lifetime giving to the Howard Young Foundation totaling $2,500 or more through 2024. These generous donors have ensured that the health and wellness of all people in the communities we serve will continue for future generations.
