Badges

Great War Centenary Series

The Great War Centenary Series commemorates the centenary since the Great War (WW1). This series will consist of 6 special commemorative badges to honour those who served. The individual badges within the series come with a carrier card that is specific to the badge as well as a clip lock plastic bag.

Fromelles

This badge depicts the Cobbers Statue which stands in the Australian Memorial Park located near Fromelles, France commemorating Australians killed during the Battle of Fromelles 19-20 July 1916. The statue depicts a soldier rescuing a comrade from No Man's Land after the battle.

Navy Hat

The white duck sailors' cap has been proudly worn as the formal head dress of Australian Sailors since 1865 and is the Naval equivalent of the Army Slouch Hat. It proudly depicts the name of the wearer's ship on the black tally band.

Beersheba

The charge of the Australian Light Horse at Beersheba on 31 October 1917 is legendary. Beersheba's main significance to the Allied advance was as a water source to support further operations to the north. The 4th and 12th Light Horse casualties were thirty-one killed and thirty-six wounded with the loss of 70 horses. The Brigade took over 1100 prisoners.

Australian Imperial Force

At the outbreak of World War 1, none of the major combatant nations issued their soldiers with steel helmets. Troops went into battle wearing cloth, felt or leather headgear that offered no protection from the weapons of the day.

France was the first to introduce a metal helmet in 1915, manufacturing a bowl-shaped steel "skullcap" called the 'Adrian' helmet. A variation of the 'Brodie' helmet was worn until recently by the Israeli civil defence forces."

Villers-Bretonneux

The battle of Villers-Bretonneux took place in France on 24 April 1918. The action was decisive in halting the massive German Spring offensive and was a crucial turning point in World War I. Communities in Australia helped Villers-Bretonneux to rebuild after the war and the Australian National Memorial to those who fell in the conflict stands on the Villers-Bretonneux plateau.

Australian Flying Corp

The Australian Flying Corps (AFC) was the branch of the Australian Army responsible for operating aircraft during World War I, and the forerunner of the Royal Australian Air Force (RAAF). The AFC was established in 1912, and began flight training in 1914.

Gallipoli Centenary Series

2015 is the Centenary of the landing of troops on the shores of the Gallipoli Peninsula. These are the six Commemoration Badges. The individual badges available within each of the 'Series' come with a carrier card that is specific to the badge as well as a clip lock plastic bag.

Rising Sun

This composite badge will always be synonymous with the ANZACs and Gallipoli, "Their Name Liveth for Evermore".

Slouch Hat

The Australian slouch hat has come to symbolise the courage and sacrifice of members of the Australian Army in over 100 years of service to the nation.

Badges

Gallipoli Centenary Series

The individual badges come with a carrier card that is specific to the badge as well as a clip lock plastic bag.

Slouch Hat with Plumes

Slouch hats adorned with emu plumes, a tradition that originated with the Queensland Mounted Infantry during the great Shearers' Strike in Queensland in 1891. The Gympie Squadron was the first to wear the feathers, an accoutrement then granted to all Australian Light Horse.

Simpson & Donkey

Simpson used a small donkey to carry injured men down to the beach from the front line, often exposing himself to fire. The bravery of this "man with the donkey" soon became the most poignant symbol of Australian courage and tenacity on Gallipoli.

AE2 Submarine

HMAS AE2 was the first submarine to penetrate the Dardanelles Strait in 1915, on the very morning that ANZAC soldiers landed at Gallipoli.

Nurses

The history of the Australian Army Nursing Corps dates back to 1898. There were 2,139 nurses who served overseas in the First World War, many with distinction during the Gallipoli Campaign.

Gallipoli Centenary Series complete in Display Case

The display case for this 'Series' is available either complete (with all badges in place) or empty.

Please ensure that you order the Display case that suits your needs.

The empty case comes with the centre badge (Gallipoli Rose) only. The empty case has NONE of the collector badges included.

empty

The complete set consists of the six collector badges as detailed in the Gallipoli Series as well as the centre (Gallipoli Rose) badge. All badges are removable from the preformed tray within the case.

ANZAC WW1

The individual badges come with a carrier card that is specific to the badge as well as a clip lock plastic bag.

Simpson & Donkey

John Simpson Kirkpatrick joined the Australian Army as Jack Simpson. He landed at Gallipoli on 25 April, 1915 and used a donkey to carry wounded soldiers from the front line to aid-stations.

Australian Light Horse

The Light Horse were mounted troops with characteristics of both cavalry and mounted infantry. They served during the Second Boer War and WW1.

AE2 Submarine

Known as the 'Silent ANZAC', the AE2 was the first Allied submarine to penetrate the Dardanelles Strait in 1915 as part of the Gallipoli Campaign and was the first Royal Australian Navy warship to conduct a torpedo attack against an enemy warship.

Slouch Hat (original)

The Australian slouch hat has been the standard headdress of the Australian soldier for over a century. It was first worn by the Australian soldiers during the Boer War with the brim turned down.

Slouch Hat with Plumes

The Australian slouch hat with plumes is the most distinguishing feature of the uniform worn by the Australian Light Horse units.

Rising Sun

This composite badge has been struck to commemorate those who served at Gallipoli.

Tobruk - North Africa

The "Rats of Tobruk" defended the garrison of Tobruk from German attacks for more than 240 days from April to September 1941. The siege resulted in 7,649 deaths and 604 taken prisoners of war (POW).

War at Sea

Ordinary Seaman Edward Sheean was killed during an attack by Japanese aircraft which sank the HMAS Armidale. After the order to "abandon ship", Sheean stayed at the aft Oerlikon gun, still firing when the ship sank.

Women at War

Women in uniform took over such jobs as telegraphists, drivers, aircraft and vehicle mechanics to name just a few. The Women's Land Army supported the many thousand farming women to assist the war effort.

Poppy

The Flanders Poppy is worn symbolising remembrance and to honour the memory of those who fought in the Spirit of the ANZACS.

Vietnam Series

The individual badges available within each of the 'Series' come with a carrier card that is specific to the badge as well as a clip lock plastic bag.

Long Tan Cross

In the late afternoon of 18 August 1966, D Company, 6 RAR fought for their lives for three hours, amid the mud and shattered trees of the Long Tan rubber plantation in Phuoc Tuy Province, South Vietnam.

Lift Off

Helicopters played a vital role in providing access in thick jungle and mountainous terrain. They were used to supply food, water and ammunition and provide quick transport of wounded to skilled medical attention.

The Trackers

Eleven black Labrador dogs were used in Vietnam by the Australian Task Force as the core of Combat Tracker Teams that were deployed from 1967 until the last combat troops left in late 1971.

Gunners

The Gunners provided invaluable fire support and were decisive in the battles of Long Tan, Tet, Coral, Balmoral and Binh Ba. They were a true ANZAC force being a mix of both Australian and New Zealand 'Gunners'.

Armour

Australian troops in Vietnam used armoured vehicles consisting of Armoured Personal Carriers and Centurion tanks. Their combination of firepower, protection and mobility gave our soldiers advantage over the enemy.

Engineers

Engineers carry out a variety of tasks. Whilst some built bridges, defused mines and booby traps, a select few were known as 'Tunnel Rats'. They carried out search and destroy missions into enemy tunnel systems.

Badges and other Merchandise

Non-Series Badges

Slouch Hat (enamel)

History has it that the origins of the Slouch Hat began with the Victorian Mounted Rifles. The Victorian hat was an ordinary bush felt hat turned up on the right side. The intention of turning up the right side of the hat was to ensure it would not be caught during the drill movement of shouldering arms.

Vietnam Ribbon Bar Lapel (Metal)

This badge represents the ribbons of Campaign Medals issued to Australian Service personnel who served in Vietnam.

Adhesive Cloth Sticker

The adhesive ribbon is easily applied (no pins required). The adhesive used allows the sticker to be removed and reapplied without damage.
