May the sounds of the shofar stir our souls to action, awaken us to the urgency of the moment, and call us to give our political leaders the moral clarity and courage to go big on climate.

Inspired by the ambitious clarion call of the Tekiah Gedolah (or “great tekiah,” the final and longest of the shofar blasts), we commit to giving this crisis everything we’ve got and not letting go or giving in as we fight to protect our communities, our air and water, and our planet for all people, and for generations to come.

Ready to take action? Visit Dayenu.org/Call to call your Senators and tell them to go BIG on climate in the recovery budget bill.
