Who we are

Good Food Oxfordshire is a sustainable food network, working together for a better food system in Oxfordshire. We are a network of over 150 businesses, institutions, community groups and local councils, committed to our shared vision of a fairer, healthier and more sustainable food system.

If you're looking for surplus food, contact
Oxford Food Hub
www.oxfordfoodhub.org

If you're in need of food support, or looking to reduce your food waste, you can find your local community food bank, larder or fridge here: foodmap.goodfoodoxford.org

About this supplier directory

This supplier directory is shared online for anyone looking to buy more local food. We also hope this will help procurement and catering teams to source more of their ingredients from local and sustainable producers. This directory includes GFO Network Members and other local sustainable food businesses.

If you would like your business to be added to this directory, please get in touch at mail@gfo.org.uk

To find out more about how we've compiled this guide, see the end of this document.

How we've compiled this guide

This directory is made up of GFO Network Members, alongside members of local directories who are championing local and sustainable food. These include Independent Oxford, Bitten Oxford, BigBarn and Low Carbon Oxford North.

This is a growing directory and we are keen to hear from you about any businesses who should be added.

If you would like your business to be added to this directory, please get in touch at
