Ehime Highlights

Ehime offers a full range of leisure activities to take in amid the breathtaking scenery of the calm, natural beauty of its sea and mountain surroundings. With its many sites offering visitors a taste of local history and culture, such as the Dōgo Onsen Honkan which was awarded 3 stars in the Michelin Green Guide Japan, Ehime features the charms of nature and culture alike. Visitors will be warmly welcomed with the spirit of omotenashi (hospitality) that has long characterized the local Shikoku Henro pilgrimage's cultural traditions.

Dōgo Onsen
道後温泉 P06

With a history of approximately 3,000 years, the Dōgo Onsen is said to be the oldest hot spring in Japan. The Dōgo Onsen Honkan, which was rebuilt in 1894, currently serves as the district's local public bathhouse and has been awarded 3 stars in the Michelin Green Guide Japan.

Matsuyama
松山 P05

Featuring a layout with Matsuyama Castle situated at its center, Matsuyama is the largest city in Shikoku. Matsuyama Castle is also a well known location for cherry blossom viewing. The shopping district along the ropeway leading to the castle is lined with shops offering local specialties, souvenirs, culinary shops and more.

Tobe
砥部 P13

Tobe is the home of Tobeyaki pottery — a nationally-designated Traditional Craft of Japan. The town has approximately 100 pottery kilns. Visitors touring the various kilns can enjoy other attractions in the town as well, including a walkway decorated with ceramic plates and Tobeyaki-themed monuments.

Uchiko
内子 P14

A town that once flourished as a mokurō (tree wax) production site. Vestiges of the period remain today, with rows of buildings from the Edo through Taishō periods (17th to early 20th century) still lining the streets of the town. Many noteworthy attractions are found here, including the Uchiko-za Theatre.

Sada-misaki Cape
佐田岬 P18

A popular driving route runs along the ridgeline of the mountains on the Sada-misaki Cape, Japan's longest, narrowest peninsula. Spectacular views that stretch as far off as Kyūshū can be seen from the Sada-misaki Lighthouse located at the tip of the cape.

Ōzu
大洲 P15

A castle town known as a "little Kyoto". Many historic spots are found here, including the Garyū-sansō villa and Ōzu castle. In summer visitors can ride roofed yakata-bune pleasure boats to observe up close the traditional ukai method of fishing with cormorants.

Shimanami Kaidō
しまなみ海道 P07

A sea-spanning route with bridges connecting 6 islands. The route has become popular among cyclists — both within Japan and internationally — due to the beauty of the Seto Inland Sea and its myriad islands that cyclists can enjoy as they ride. This renowned beauty has lent the locale a reputation as a holy ground for cyclists.

Mount Ishizuchi
石鎚山 P11

The highest peak in western Japan. Revered since antiquity as a site for Shugendō mountain worship, the peak is also used for ascetic training practices. The beauty it displays throughout the four seasons, from fresh verdure to the turning leaves of autumn, attracts many climbers to the mountain throughout the year.

Shikoku Henro
四国遍路 P24

A pilgrimage route included in the New York Times' list of "52 Places to Go in 2015". Interactions with the locals has become a charm of the pilgrimage, and an increasing number of visitors from overseas have been making the pilgrimage in recent years.

Shikoku Karst
四国カルスト P10

A karst highland that extends along the border between the Ehime and Kochi prefectures at an elevation of 1400 m. Visitors will be soothed by the natural grandeur and the tranquility of the pastoral landscape.

Nametoko-keikoku Gorge
滑床溪谷 P20

Nametoko Gorge is one of the premier canyoning destinations in Japan. The gorge features a large number of natural slides, such as the Yukiwa-no-taki waterfall that flows over a single massive slab of stone.

Uwakai Sea Maritime Park
宇和海海域公園 P19

With features including a coral reef and tropical fish, the Uwakai Sea Maritime Park is a popular spot for diving. Visitors can enjoy observing the undersea environment's beauty through options that include underwater observatory boats and a Seawalker activity where special helmets enable participants to walk and breathe underwater. (The photo is of an underwater diving scene.)

FAQ for First-Time Ehime Visitors

Q How can Ehime be reached from major Japanese cities?

A variety of public transportation options provide access to Ehime, from air routes and JR train lines to rapid transit buses and ferries. Another popular approach is to rent a car or bicycle to access Ehime from Hiroshima prefecture while enjoying the sights along the Shimanami Kaidō route. (See p.29 for more details)

Q What is the minimum number of days needed to enjoy sightseeing in Ehime?

A two-day visit with an overnight stay would allow visitors to see the sights around Matsuyama—with a focus on the Dōgo Onsen—on the first day, while venturing a bit further out to other popular sites, such as the Shimanami Kaidō, on the second. Sightseeing of Matsuyama and eastern Ehime Prefecture should require a day, and seeing the southern portion of the prefecture should require a day as well.

Q What is the best means of transportation within Ehime?

Trams offer convenient access to sightseeing locations such as Dōgo Onsen and Matsuyama castle. JR trains and bus services can also be used to reach principal sightseeing attractions in the prefecture. Rental cars also offer an efficient means of visiting a large number of sightseeing destinations.

Q What is the best time of year to visit Ehime?

Seasons when the cherry blossoms are in full bloom (around late March to early April) and November when the autumn leaves are most vibrant are both great times to visit. In-season varieties of the various local citrus specialties grown in Ehime can also be savored throughout the year (→P22). Another good option would be to plan a visit in conjunction with a local event of your choice (→P25).

Local Ehime Gourmet

Ehime offers a rich variety of local dishes made using special ingredients from the Seto Inland Sea as well as the mountains. We recommend trying out culinary options that are popular with locals, such as noodle dishes or rice bowls from certain places in the region.

Local Cuisine

You'll want to try both! Tai-meshi (sea bream with rice) served 2 ways

Tai-meshi 鯛めし

In the area from Tōyo to Chūyo, the dish is generally served with the fish cooked into the rice with seasonings, takikomi-style. The method of preparation varies from restaurant to restaurant, with some cooking the fish whole and mixing it with rice, and others cooking slices of the sea bream on rice kamameshi-style in an iron pot. It is also eaten in conjunction with celebrations and other auspicious occasions.

Nanyo style Tai-meshi 南予風鯛めし

Tai-meshi in the Nanyo area around Uwajima features a style in which sea bream sashimi is coated in a sweetish tare sauce mixed with raw egg and served on top of steaming hot rice. This allows you to fully enjoy the raw sea bream's umami flavor.

Yakibuta Tamago-meshi 焼豚玉子飯

A popular local dish with roast pork and fried eggs with runny yolks served on a bowl of rice with a salty-sweet tare sauce. The dish is said to have originated at a Chinese restaurant in Imabari city.

Imotaki いもたき

A dish made with locally grown taro and other ingredients simmered together in a large pot. Ingredients and flavors vary from one area to another. In autumn the dish is often eaten on river terraces in conjunction with moon viewing.

Jakoten じゃこ天

A fish paste made with fresh, locally caught tiny fish that are made into a surimi paste, bones and all, and deep-fried in oil. It has a concentrated umami flavor from the little fish. Very popular as a snack to eat together with alcohol.

Tai-sōmen Noodles 鯛そうめん

A festive local dish made with sea bream cooked so that it maintains its original form and served up on a plate of cooked sōmen noodles. The combination of luck-bringing sōmen noodles with sea bream makes the dish a common choice to be served at celebratory gatherings.

Yawatahama Chanpon Noodles 八幡浜ちゃんぽん

A specialty of the port town Yawatahama, featuring thick Chinese noodles served in light, clear golden broth. Ingredients commonly added to the soup include vegetables, pork and products made from fish-paste, such as jakoten.

Saijō Teppan Neapolitan 西条てっぱんナポリタン

A dish made with "Neapolitan"-style spaghetti with tomato sauce served on a piping hot iron plate with egg. Flavors, ingredients and toppings all vary from one restaurant to another, so comparing the different versions is a fun activity.

Ehime mikan, simply irresistible!

Ehime boasts mikan (mandarin orange) production in the top class of all of Japan. The range of citrus varieties grown here is incredibly diverse too, numbering over 40. Try sampling the various types to compare and find your favorite!

Citrus Fruits

Processed goods allow Ehime's citrus fruits, including unshū mikan, to be savored all year long. Sample their flavors for some refreshment along your journey!

Ice cream アイス

From gelato to ice cream, different shops offer a colorful array of types and flavors using Ehime citrus fruits.

Drinkable jelly 飲むゼリー

Liquid jellies packed with delicious citrus flavor that can be conveniently enjoyed without a spoon.

Juice ジュース

A full selection of 100% fruit juices made from Ehime-grown citrus fruits are available, such as the local unshū mikan.

Is there really "mikan juice on tap"?

A unique way of providing juice to customers brought to fruition the urban legend that "in Ehime, mikan juice even springs from the tap." Destinations offering juice this way include Matsuyama Airport, the Honmaru-hiroba square at Matsuyama castle, and the Smiley Ehime Official Souvenir Shop (→P23).

Ehime's Original Varieties

Ehime fruit test No.28 (Beni Madonna)

愛媛果試第28号(紅まどな)

Characterized by thin skin and a texture that seems to melt in the mouth. Perfect for serving as cut fruit. Registered as a cultivar in March 2005. (Only allowed to be cultivated in Ehime pref.)

Kanpei 甘平

Characterized by a unique crisp texture and rich flavor. Registered as a cultivar in August 2007. (Only allowed to be cultivated in Ehime pref.)

Unshū Mikan 温州みかん

Both flavorful and easy to eat, the representative face of the "Citrus Kingdom" Ehime. Summertime unshū mikan are considered luxury-grade fruits.

Iyokan いよかん

Within Ehime, first cultivated in 1889. Its refreshing sweetness that spreads in the mouth and its fragrance are very appealing.

Kiyomi 清見

A cross between a mikan and an orange. Characterized by plentiful juice and smooth flesh. Perfect for serving as cut fruit.

Setoka せとか

Characterized by its juiciness and rich sweetness. Developed as a hybrid of the Kiyomi with the high-sugar Encore and Murcott cultivars.

Harehime はれひめ

A cross of mikan and the Kiyomi and Osceola cultivars. This fruit is easy to peel by hand and can be eaten inner membranes and all. Features a refreshing orange-like flavor.

Kara (Kara-mandarin) カラ(カラマンダリン)

A citrus fruit that can be enjoyed in April and May in the same way as a mikan. Characterized by its juiciness and richness of flavor.

Shikoku Henro

A pilgrimage route retracing the footsteps Kōbō-Daishi (Kūkai) took in the course of his spiritual training. With part of the appeal lying in the contact with the natural environment and warm hospitality of people offered along the way, there are now increasing numbers of visitors from overseas making the Shikoku Henro pilgrimage on foot.

What is the Shikoku Henro?

The Shikoku Henro is a pilgrimage, approximately 1,400 km in total length, that makes a route around Shikoku. 88 temples referred to as fudasho are located along the route, and participants are free to start from any of them. With Shikoku's unique cultural tradition of o-settai (hospitality) offered to travelers on the pilgrimage, the Henro is attracting notice throughout the world.

Website

Temple-Visiting Etiquette

The Shikoku Henro welcomes participants regardless of nationality or religion. While the most important consideration is prayer, certain etiquette is associated with visiting temples, which are considered sacred sites. Making sure you know the etiquette through websites beforehand will help you have a deeper interaction with Japan's cultural traditions.

Website

Ehime's Fudasho

26 Fudasho are located in Ehime Prefecture. 3 of these are furnished with shukubō temple lodgings for worshippers. Shukubō guests can experience the flavors of shōjin ryōri meals prepared in accordance with Buddhist teachings. There are also Fudasho where visitors are offered firsthand experiences of the Buddhist worldview.

Calendar of Ehime Festivals & Flowers

Ehime (which means “lovely princess”) is a land with a warm temperate climate and bountiful natural blessings. Come make a trip to take in its beautiful scenery, from the flowers that bloom throughout the four seasons to the turning leaves of autumn on Mount Ishizuchi, the highest peak in western Japan. Events, including festivals and fireworks displays, are fun to check out as well.

(Jan 10 ~ Feb 10)
Botan-chaya Teahouse Kanbotan (Winter Peony) Festival
ぼたん茶屋の寒ぼたんまつり

A collection of about 100 pots of winter peonies are helped to bloom with straw coverings sheltering them from the cold and frost. The contrast between the vivid colors of the flowers and the green of their leaves presents a beautifully poetic sight during the winter season.
