ABOUT DIMC 2026

Dexon Global IP Moot Court Competition, 2026

Intellectual property law stands at the very heart of the modern knowledge economy. From artificial intelligence and digital content to pharmaceutical patents and traditional knowledge, IP disputes today define the boundaries of innovation, creativity, and commerce. Against this backdrop, Dexon Global's IP Moot Court Competition provides law students with a rigorous, high-stakes platform to engage with the most pressing questions in contemporary IP law — through the discipline of competitive mootings.

The competition is designed to simulate real-world IP litigation and dispute resolution, challenging participants to research deeply, construct compelling legal arguments, and present them with precision and confidence before experienced panels of judges drawn from the legal profession, judiciary, and academia.

What sets the Dexon Global IP Moot apart is its strong emphasis on contemporary relevance and global perspective. Participants are encouraged to engage with both Indian IP laws and international frameworks such as the TRIPS Agreement and WIPO treaties, fostering a comparative and practice-ready understanding of the subject. The competition also aims to create a vibrant intellectual community—bringing together students from diverse institutions to exchange ideas, build networks, and develop a shared interest in IP law and policy.

ABOUT DEXON GLOBAL CENTRE FOR LEGAL STUDIES, POLICY AND RESEARCH

SHIFTING DYNAMICS

The Dexon Global Centre for Legal Studies, Policy and Research is the dedicated academic and intellectual wing of Dexon Global LLP, envisioned as a hub for rigorous legal scholarship, policy innovation, and interdisciplinary research. The Centre is established with the objective of bridging the gap between legal academia and real-world policy challenges by fostering a research-driven ecosystem that is both globally informed and practically relevant.

At its core, the Centre focuses on advancing high-quality research across diverse domains of law and public policy, with particular emphasis on emerging and impactful areas such as intellectual property, technology law, international trade, dispute resolution, sustainability, and governance. It seeks to encourage critical thinking and evidence-based analysis through curated programmes, research collaborations, and thematic initiatives involving students, academicians, practitioners, and policymakers.

The Centre actively organises academic engagements including conferences, moot court competitions, faculty development programmes, policy dialogues, and specialised workshops, all designed to cultivate practical skills alongside academic excellence.

With a vision to evolve into a globally p institution for legal and policy studies, the Dexon Global Centre aims to nurture the next generation of legal professionals, researchers, and thought leaders – individuals equipped to engage with complex legal systems and contribute to shaping informed, progressive policy frameworks.
