greenbox introduces environmentally friendly solutions for canteens, cafeterias, and event catering

As sustainability becomes a growing concern in the hospitality industry, Greenbox GmbH & Co. KG is proud to present its innovative reusable tableware range, an eco-friendly alternative to disposable plastic tableware. Already making strides in the takeaway business, this environmentally friendly solution is now gaining traction in in-house catering, food trucks, and closed events such as concerts, sports events, and festivals.

greenbox's reusable tableware offers a versatile solution for various settings, including restaurants, canteens, cafeterias, and food festivals. Designed to replace single-use plastic plates, it is the perfect option for party tableware, university cafeterias, and office breakrooms. The dishwasher-safe reusable plates are not only ideal for serving everyday meals but also beer gardens, events and festivals, providing a safe and sustainable alternative to traditional plastic products.

From deep reusable plates ideal for pasta, salads, and nachos to small plates that save space in busy kitchens, the range covers all types of dining needs. Each piece of tableware is durable, stackable, space-saving, and easy to store, making it an excellent option for both on-site dining and outdoor events.

greenbox's new tableware portfolio includes everything from snack bowls for side dishes to larger bowls and plates for main courses, making it the perfect option for quick meals at events or everyday use in canteens and cafeterias.

With the growing demand for sustainable catering solutions, greenbox is leading the way in providing green options (and we're not just talking about our colorful materials) that meet the needs of a flexible dining environment.
