

Wenzhou Haihang Machinery is one of the leading company of disposable tableware packaging equipment industry in China.

With more than 15 years of experience, we have helped more than 2000 companies increase efficiency and save labor costs. Our company is a comprehensive company. In order to create more economic benefits and provide one-step service, we have collected all the knowledge and resources to provide customers with complete solutions for the disposable tableware packaging industry in our field, including automatic packaging machines for disposable tableware disposable cup packaging machines, disposable straw packaging machines, and exported them to all parts of the world in the past few years. we have passed ISO9001:2008 quality certification system and CE safety certification system. With rich technical and financial resources, we attach great importance to the innovation of new products. Creating value for customers is the only way to realize self-value. We look forward to working with you.