

AMZ Tropical Brings Award-Winning Amazonian Spirits to SIAL Paris 2026 and Seeks Global Distribution Partners

October 8, 2026

BELÉM, BRAZIL - AMZ Tropical will present its portfolio of Amazonian spirits and bottled cocktails at SIAL Paris 2026, inviting importers and distributors to discover a distinctive Brazilian brand that combines regional ingredients, international recognition and vibrant shelf appeal.

Founded in 2021 and headquartered in Belém, Pará, AMZ Tropical draws inspiration from the flavors and culinary culture of the Brazilian Amazon. Its portfolio includes Jambu Gin, Brazil Nut Gin and Amazonian interpretations of Fitzgerald, Limoncello and Negroni, bringing an authentic, refreshing and flavorful experience to consumers.

Jambu Gin features an Amazonian botanical celebrated for its distinctive tingling sensation on the palate. The product received a Silver Medal at the 2024 World Gin Awards, while Brazil Nut Gin earned a Gold Medal at the 2025 New Spirits competition. Four products - the Jambu Gin COP30 edition, Fitzgerald Amazônico, Limoncello Amazônico and Negroni Amazônico - were also distinguished at SIAL Innovation Paris 2026 in the Beverage Category.

AMZ Tropical connects consumers with its origins through its own store and experiential bar in Belém, where cocktails and tastings bring the brand's Amazonian identity to life. Its São Paulo branch serves customers throughout Brazil, while its U.S. branch supports international expansion.

For commercial partners, the range offers multiple packaging formats and opportunities across retail, bars, restaurants and hospitality. Colorful, distinctive packaging helps products stand out on shelves and attract consumer attention. Bottled cocktails simplify service, while gins provide a versatile base for creative mixology. The Jambu Gin range also includes a 700 ml aluminum refill alongside its bottled formats.

With substantial production capacity and a commitment to product quality, responsible growth and a positive-impact value chain, AMZ Tropical seeks to build lasting commercial relationships that create value around Amazonian ingredients, regional identity and the people connected to its business.

At SIAL Paris 2026, the company welcomes discussions with importers, distributors and hospitality partners interested in introducing Amazonian flavors to their markets.

From the Amazon to the world.
