Honza Natural Foods presents its expertise in wild mushrooms, truffles and premium ingredients at SIAL

Honza Natural Foods, a Spanish company specialized in wild mushrooms, truffles and selected fruits, will showcase its extensive product range at SIAL, bringing together quality ingredients, specialist knowledge and competitive solutions for international markets.

With a strong focus on the foodservice, retail and food industry sectors, Honza offers products in frozen, dehydrated and preserved formats, providing customers with a versatile portfolio adapted to different culinary and commercial needs.

Among the company's highlights are its wide selection of dehydrated wild mushrooms, including Boletus, Morels, Black Trumpets and assorted mushroom mixes, as well as its range of truffle products, such as Summer Truffle Carpaccio and Tartufata Sauce. Honza will also present its selection of mushroom sauces, truffle oils and other preserved specialties.

The company combines extensive experience in the mushroom and truffle sector with a strong understanding of international markets, offering carefully selected products, reliable supply and highly competitive pricing.

SIAL visitors will have the opportunity to discover Honza's full range and explore potential partnerships with the company's international sales team.
