

SONAB

At SONAB, we proudly carry the legacy of four generations of date farmers to deliver exceptional Deglet Nour dates, naturally ripened under the Tunisian sun. With decades of expertise passed down through our family, we have perfected processes that ensure superior quality and optimal preservation without the need for freezing. Our naturally ripened dates are highly resistant to tropical climates, maintaining their freshness and quality throughout the distribution chain. This allows our partners to reduce costs while providing a stable, premium product tailored to the demands of Asian markets.
